FIND RECORDS, BAROGRAPH OF GIANT BLIMP

Recovery Is Expected to Aid
Navy Department in Probing Cause of Disaster

WITNESSES EXAMINED
Board of Investigation Decides
Ship Buckled in Mid Air
Before Falling

Caldwell, Ohio—(P)—It was definitely determined Saturday morning that the giant dirigible Shenandoah parts before falling to the ground, buckled in mid air and separated in two sections. A fifth said it appeared to him that the ship sagged in the center and separated. There was no testimony to substantiate reports that the dirigible struck the ground or trees before breaking apart.

Caldwell, O.—(P)—The much sought barograph and records from the Shenandoah have been found and may aid the naval authorities in determining the cause of the smash up. The barograph was located at Cambridge and the log sheets therefrom, a short distance away. They were in the hands of souvenir seekers.

The barograph and will show pressure, atmospheric moisture and temperature. From the graph drawn on the automatic drum by a moving stylus, it will be possible to compute how rapidly the Shenandoah rose in the buffeting of the storm before the buckling amidship occurred. Captain George Washington Steele, Jr. commanding officer of the Lakehurst naval station, arrived here at 8:55 a. m. He immediately set out with commander Jacob H. Klein and other Lakehurst officials to visit the scene of the wreck at Ava and Sharon.

CONTINUE PROBE
New York—(P)—Investigation of the wreck of the navy dirigible Shenandoah is being continued on the scene at Caldwell, O. Meanwhile, the bodies of most of the 14 victims of the disaster are on the way for burial in heroes graves at Arlington National cemetery or to the homes of relatives.

Comment on the cause of the disaster is world wide, as are expressions of sympathy and speculation as to the future of dirigibles. President Coolidge has let it be known at the summer White House that he assumes the navy will want to build a new dirigible for military purposes. The Los Angeles the only such craft left in the possession of the United States, cannot be used for such purposes under the Versailles treaty. Secretary Wilbur has his doubts about the building of a new ship, however, indicating that it depends upon the navy budget.

WINDS LASH REMAINS OF DEMOLISHED BLIMP

Here's a close-up picture of the middle section of the giant ship Shenandoah, taken shortly after it crashed to the ground near Ava, O., early Thursday morning, resulting in the death of 14 men. The steel girders and network of steel supports were crushed. Scores of farmers and townsfolk, seen in the picture, rushed to the scene of disaster and assisted in disentangling the dead and the injured. This exclusive picture was rushed to this city by auto, airplane and fast mail through special arrangements.

FIRE DESTROYS 250 DWELLINGS IN SHREVEPORT

Property Loss Estimated Above $500,000; Six Injured in Large Conflagration

Shreveport, La.—(P)—Nine city blocks embracing more than 250 dwellings in which lived more than 1,000 persons, were leveled here Friday night and early Saturday by a fire which broke out shortly after some mighty force had wrecked the city water mains in three places.

Property loss was estimated early Saturday at upwards of $500,000 exclusive of losses by public utilities. Three blocks of the fire swept area were occupied by homes of the moderately well-to-do persons, while the remaining six blocks, which extended up to the business district, housed poorer persons and negroes.

Six persons were injured, two seriously. The fire originated in the bathroom of the home of a barber and, whipped by a heavy wind, quickly got beyond control. Flimsy structures in its path were pulled down and hundreds of persons formed bucket brigades in an effort to stem the rushing tide of flame.

For five hours, however, the city was left virtually at the mercy of the fire until finally the breaks in the mains were repaired and water pressure was restored.

The fire started in a house owned by a former fire department chief and across the street from a fire station. The breaks in water mains remained unexplained early Saturday.

EXCESS WOOL PROFITS ARE WANTED BY MANY

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The department of agriculture has received an avalanche of applications for the $238,000 of excess profits it recently announced was unclaimed on account of wool sold in 1918.

Most of these communications advance claims, but O. W. Stoltz of Mission, Texas, has another idea. He has asked the department to turn the money over to him to buy at $7 an acre a 39,000 acre ranch, which he would sell in small lots at $15 an acre. "I can do it," he wrote. "In less time than it will take for the Democratic party to elect a Democratic president."

His application remains pending. The money was collected from dealers under a price fixing profit limiting rule of the industries for distribution to sheep growers.

DRUNK CAN'T USE AUTO SIX MONTHS

Gustave Krause Pays That Penalty and Fine Also in Court Here

The second automobilist to be deprived by Judge Theodore Berg of the use of his car on account of driving while intoxicated is Gustave Krause, 119 N. Appleton-st., who was arrested for that offense by Officer Albert Delgen at College-ave and Oneida-st. late Friday night.

Krause was arrested under a state warrant which made it possible for Judge Berg to impose the severe sentence. An amendment to the city ordinance governing drunken driving is before the city council now and the amendment, if passed, will enable the judge to impose the same sentence in case of arrest under the city ordinance.

Besides having his automobile taken away from him for a period of six months, Krause was ordered to pay a fine of $50 plus costs of $4.20, and sentenced to 90 days in the county workhouse. The workhouse sentence, however, was suspended for a future of six months, and Krause's future behavior will determine whether he will escape the stonepile.

The arrest was made at about 11 o'clock last night after Krause had knocked over the safety zone standards at the intersection. Officer Delgen, who stopped at the corner for the automatic light signals pursued the driver and found that he was drunk. The latter spent the night in a cell at the police station.

CHARGES FORD STOLE WEEKLY PAYMENT PLAN

New York—(P)—Edward G. Moore Saturday filed suit against the Ford Motor Co., alleging that it was "deliberately and consciously infringing and unlawfully converting to its own use" his weekly payment plan for purchasing automobiles. Moore alleged that the Ford Company used his plan without authorization from him and asked for an injunction to cease the unauthorized use of the scheme as well as a full accounting of all profits received.

CITY WILL VOTE ON CITY MANAGER PLAN

Sturgeon Bay—(P)—Voters of Sturgeon Bay will decide at a special election Oct. 27, whether its citizens shall be governed by the city manager plan or municipal government. The date for the election was set by the city council, after City Attorney Ferguson presented a petition signed by more than 500 persons.

MOTHER PLACES SON IN BOILER AND KILLS HIM

Columbus, O.—(P)—Mrs. Edith Lane, 29, placed her six weeks old son in a washboiler she had filled with water and lighted a fire under it at her home Saturday morning. Several hours later the woman's husband discovered the child dead.

Mrs. Lane is held at the county jail pending an examination of her mental condition.

KEEP YOUNGSTERS ON FARM WITH ELECTRICITY

Green Bay—(P)—Help keep the American boys and girls on the farm by bringing the comforts and conveniences of the city to them, was the plea of L. Albert Karel, Kewaunee, president of the State Bankers association, in an address Friday night before the electric division of the Wisconsin Utilities association in convention here.

In urging the extension of gas and electric service to rural districts, Mr. Karel said that such extension was the most patriotic service that utility companies could render to the people. The Kewaunee banker further urged that the utility commission law should be made uniform in all the mid-western states, and that a practical utility man, familiar with the problems of financing and operating utilities, should be a member of the railroad commission.

Election of officers will close the convention Saturday afternoon.

Stoughton, Wis.—This city of 5,000 inhabitants has had a striking illustration of the Wisconsin tax policy toward industries and the uncertainty that follows the closing down of a big industrial plant. ## RENEW EFFORTS AT HONOLULU TO FIND SEAPLANE

Press Surface Ships; Submarines and Airplanes Into Intensive Search

Honolulu—(P)—Work of wrestling from the stubborn, silent tropical sea its precious secret of the whereabouts of the missing seaplane Pn-9 No. 1, was underway Saturday with renewed intensity.

Eighteen destroyers were rushing toward the scene by breaking away from the fleet detachment returning from the Antipodes.

From the east, the airplane carrier Langley, with a cargo of scout planes aboard, was cruising to the vicinity where search was being carried on for the missing plane which was victim of fuel shortage while on a non-stop flight from San Francisco to Honolulu five days ago.

Paint hopes for the safety of commander John Rodgers when the tender Whipper-Will reported that three widely separated flares had been seen on Tuesday night.

A naval scout plane, piloted by Lieut. Peterson, was forced down Friday off the coast of the island of Kauai. The identity of the plane was unknown for many hours and led to a report that it was probably the missing Pn-9 No. 1.

This was corrected by navy officers Friday night when they identified the Peterson plane.

FRANCE WILL ACCEPT TERMS IN FEW WEEKS

Administration Is Confident of Early Agreement on War
Debt Settlement

BY DAVID LAYRENCE
Copyright, 1925 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—There is no concealing the satisfaction felt here that M. Caillaux, French minister of finance, and a delegation fully authorized to negotiate a settlement of the French war debt will be here within a fortnight.

Until the definite announcement of M. Caillaux's coming was made, officials were skeptical about the outcome of the negotiations. They reasoned that if he did not come it was because he felt there was little chance of a settlement. Now that he is coming with a delegation of influential members of the French parliament, there is a confidence that within the next three weeks, the United States and France will have erased from the boards their one outstanding diplomatic problem which has been affecting their relations for several years.

The settlements with the smaller countries are expected to follow as a matter of course. Politically they have not been disturbing. The big problem has been with France. Entirely apart from the terms of the settlement, the administration is counting upon certain results in an economic as well as a diplomatic sense. Opinions may differ as to whether France ultimately will pay all that she promises, and whether she will not periodically ask for a revision of terms but there seems to be no doubt that once the settlement is reached, the American government will prove itself even more sympathetic in the future than it has been in the past to the question of rebuilding European finances. No ban will be placed on foreign loans to be made by private banks here and every encouragement will be given to the use of American capital to help commercial enterprises abroad. The American money market is eager for

EARLY ACTION ON TAX BILL IS SEEN

Administration Looks for Passing of Tax Reduction
Measure by March 15

Swampscott, Mass.—(P)—President Coolidge's plans to have the next reduction in taxes applied on incomes of the year on which levies will be paid during the next year is expected to result in early action by congress on a revenue bill.

First tax payments on the new year are due March 15. Administration leaders believe a tax reduction can be passed by that time and chairman Green of the house ways and means committee has called that committee to start work next month on a tax bill.

Determined also to have the next congress approve the proposed reorganization of executive departments, Mr. Coolidge is standing firm against any modification of the principal features of this proposal as presented to the last congress.

The president was represented Saturday as believing that railroad legislation just how should be along lines to encourage voluntary consolidation.

The president considers New England well enough represented in the cabinet by Secretary Weeks and Attorney General Sargent and should one of them resign his successor will come from another part of the country.

Mr. Coolidge is planning to return to Washington some time next week.

Crookston, Minn.—(P)—Following a hearing before Judge Wm. Watts here Friday night, authorities of Madison, Wis., were denied possession of Gertrude Showers, wanted in the Wisconsin city for jail breaking. Judge Watts announced that another hearing for her extradition will be held sometime Saturday.

Whether Miss Showers' commitment in Madison was legal is the point of the fight being made to take her back to Madison.

Miss Showers was arrested here with Ralph Fritz of Elgin, Ill., who was apprehended here last week for desertion. Fritz was taken back to Elgin to face the desertion charge.

SAVES HORSE FROM FIRE, RETURNS TO HOUSE, DROPS DEAD

Wisconsin Rapids—(P)—When lightning struck and set fire to his barn about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, William Lemay, 65, farmer living near here, ran out and saved a horse trapped inside, and then came into his home and dropped dead. It is thought the shock affected his weak heart.

The barn with two calves and much hay and grain inside and three stacks of grain outside were destroyed, resulting in a total loss of about $5,500.

POSSES SEARCH FOR NEGRO WHO KIDNAPED GIRL

Plot Aimed at Trust Company
Official Seen by Police
When Wrong Girl Disappears

Mont Clair, N. J.—(P)—Posses Saturday intensified their searches for a little white girl kidnapped by a Negro who presumably killed another Negro in order to get an automobile for the abduction.

Apparently having planned to kidnap the niece of a wealthy banker, the fugitive seems to have found that he abducted the wrong girl. The kidnapping plot, police believe, was aimed against Joseph A. Bower, vice president of the New York Trust Company, whose seven-year-old niece, Dorothy, Coates, was visiting him.

Instead, the Negro grabbed Mary Dan, six, daughter of David S. Dan, a hardware merchant, who was playing in front of the Bower home Friday afternoon.

By the license plates on the abductors automobile, police suspected Raymond Pierce, a Negro chauffeur, who had borrowed the car. But Pierce's body was found last night crammed in a culvert at Cedar Grove, with a bullet hole in his head. Medical examiners said he had been killed four hours before the kidnapping. The assumption is that he was killed by the kidnaper in order to get the car.

Last night Mrs. Bower was called on telephone by a man who demanded $4,000 for the return of her niece. But her niece was safe in bed at the time.

The kidnaper drove up to the Bower home in a sedan and grabbed Mary from several of her playmates. He sped away, choking the girl's screams with one hand and driving with the other. John Sandin, the Bower chauffeur, gave chase, picking two friends on his way. Between Little Falls and West Paterson Sandin crowded the fugitive car toward the curb and the Negro fled. The shot crashed thru the windshield and hit Sandin in the head.

Sandin slumped unconscious in the seat and his friends took him to a hospital.

NAVAL OFFICER GETS DEMOTION IN RANK

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Lieut. Charles F. Martin has been found guilty of negligence as commanding officer of the submarine S-19, which went aground off Chatham, Mass. Jan. 12, and sentenced to the loss of five numbers in rank, under a decision approved Saturday by Secretary Wilbur.

Lieut. Commander Stuart E. Bray, commanding officer of the submarine S-19, was court-martialed during a storm off Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 29, was acquitted of charges of negligence and of failure to obey orders. Mr. Wilbur disapproved the finding on the second of these charges, but the disapproval has no practical punitive effect.

FLIERS MAKE DEBUT IN FRENCH MOROCCO

Quezan, French Morocco—(P)—The American fliers of the LaFayette escadille made their debut as a corporate unit on the battle front Saturday and took part in raids over one of the most important rift military centers. The air group of which the American squadron is a unit is commanded by Major Dangelzer, one of France's best flying officers. Major Dangelzer has served in every French colonial campaign since he joined the army.

He asked "why if they expected to run short of fuel as indeed they might, did they not make arrangements for refueling the airplane while it was in the air" and why a crew of five was carried when the weight of one or two could have been replaced by additional fuel.

SAYS MISHAPS OF AIR COULD BE PREVENTED

"Flying General," Facing Military Arrest, Hurls Bomb at Department Chiefs

AIRMEN BLUFFED, HE SAYS

Declares Conduct of War and Navy Departments in Recent Years Is Disgusting

San Antonio, Texas—(P)—Predicting that he will be placed under military arrest by Monday because of what he says, Col. William Mitchell, air officer on the eighth corps area and deputy assistant chief of the air service, Saturday morning issued a statement denouncing the war department and the navy department in connection with the disaster which befell the Shenandoah and the ill-fated seaplane lost on attempted jump to Honolulu.

The statement was issued after "mature deliberation and after a sufficient time has elapsed since the terrible accidents to our naval aircraft find out what happened," to quote from the statement.

"These accidents are the dire result of incompetency, commercial negligence and almost treasonable administration of the national aeronautics service," he declared.

Charging that both the navy and navy department "have gone to the utmost limit to keep down the development of aviation, and to maintain an artificial barrier to the two departments," Col. Mitchell said that all aviation policies are directed by "officials who are not even worthy of being flying and that lives of airmen are being used merely as pawns in their hands."

Mitchell took a direct slap at the war department for the treatment accorded him, when he said:

"The airmen themselves are bluffed and bulldozed so that they aren't tell the truth, knowing full well they will be deprived of their future careers, sent to the most out of the way places to prevent their telling the truth and deprived of all chances of advancement unless they subscribe to the dictates of their non-flying bureaucratic superiors."

Col. Mitchell asserted that "the conduct of the war and navy department has been so disgusting in the last few years as to make any self respecting officer ashamed of who they are working for."

Col. Mitchell declares that the determination of the members of the flying service to place the issue "squarely up to congress and the people," dated from the "killing of Lieut. Pierson and Capt. Skeel in the dilapidated racing airplane during last October's air meet."

"This was caused," he says "by an agreement between the army and navy, that the navy should take the race one year and that the army should take it the next year, thereby equalizing propaganda, not service."

The recent maneuvers of the fleet in the Pacific are declared to have been nothing more than a "parade of fifty million" reported to have cost from fifty million to eighty million dollars, which demonstrated the futility of surface vessels. He declares that in war the fleet steaming to the Philippines would have been constantly beset by submarines and that "if any vessels survived the submarine attacks across the ocean and came to the aid of the fleet and came within hundreds of miles of hostile coast, they would be sent to the bottom forthwith by airplanes."

Regarding the Hawaiian seaplane fight the Col. declared:

"Patrol vessels were to the Philippines. Three airplanes were built to participate in it. These showed nothing novel in design and were untied for this kind of work. One never got away from the Pacific coast, one flew a few miles out and was forced to land in the water, and one was lost on account of being out of gas somewhere in the high seas, stationed every 200 miles, a distance entirely too far apart for an experimental flight of this kind. With such primitive flying machines as the PN-9's are, double or triple this number of vessels should have been there. In fact the whole Pacific fleet should have been employed there instead of joy riding around the Antipodes."

He asked "why if they expected to run short of fuel as indeed they might, did they not make arrangements for refueling the airplane while it was in the air" and why a crew of five was carried when the weight of one or two could have been replaced by additional fuel.

CHURCHES HERE WILL OBSERVE LABOR SUNDAY

Resolution Adopted in State
by Appleton Men Will Be Heeded in City

Appleton and Wisconsin churches will devote their Sunday services to the observance of the first Labor Sunday in the history of the state, at which time labor sermons will be preached by Protestant and Catholic churches alike, and labor organizations will attend church services in large numbers.

A resolution introduced at the thirty-third annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor at Lake Geneva, in July by Fred Bachman, president of Appleton Trades and Labor council and Congressmen George J. Schneider, Appleton, urges cooperation of all labor in making the first Labor Sunday a success.

This resolution which was adopted at the convention reads in part: "Whereas, Through the inspiration of our labor movement, the Sunday preceding Labor Day, which is the first Monday in September each year, has come to be regarded as a day of observance as Labor Sunday. On this day it is fitting to give thought to the aspirations of labor and to find in what way the soul of labor may give thought and expressions to its longings; and

"Whereas, because of the aims and aspirations of labor we hold it fitting that churches draw close to their laborers the soul of labor on the coming Labor Sunday and that men and women of labor everywhere make a special effort to cooperate with the churches and to secure the cooperation of the churches with them in order that there may be in the churches everywhere on that day a great union of expression in behalf of a higher, nobler life for the masses of our people; in order that there may be everywhere a consecration to the cause of human betterment, particularly in those things that lead to ethical and spiritual growth—in those things that give flower and fruit to the great idealism of our people; May Labor Sunday each year bring home to the masses of our people the great good that humanity may yet achieve, the lofty heights to which it may climb, the inspiration and the enrichment to be found in the great American labor movement which is the hope of the millions who toil."

Can You Guess Who These Fashion Folk Are? You'll Have A Chance On Thursday

MISS FALL FASHION AND MR. FALL FASHION

If you are good at identifying people from their backs, you can win a prize of $12.50 or $25 offered by the merchants of Appleton in connection with the annual fall style opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Two persons whom you probably know, Miss Fall Fashion and Mr. Fall Fashion, are to stroll the streets during the formal opening between 7:30 and 9 o'clock Thursday evening, when the automobile parade and other activities are in progress. The only hint available is the pictures above showing them from their profile and back. You can gain an idea of their profile and back, and your ingenuity is to do the rest.

These two persons of moment will not be walking together on College ave, but they may be with other friends of their own. Miss Fashion will be clad in a silk crepe dress of a color combination that is typical of fall. Her hat will be of tan in popular vogue and she will have hose and shoes in keeping with the autumn colors and styles. Mr. Fashion will have on a dark suit of the latest mode and also will wear a gray cap. Both of these persons are charming in appearance and will meet your expectations fully as messengers of the arrival of autumn.

The first person to recognize either Miss Fashion or Mr. Fashion will receive a prize of $12.50 in cash. Both prizes may be won by the same person if he happens to have the good fortune to spy both. The requirement is that the person discover either one is to step up, accost him or her and repeat these words: "You are the mysterious Miss Fall Fashion" (or Mr. Fashion). If you guess right, your name and address will be taken down and a check will be sent you by Appleton Advertising club. If nobody finds these two persons Thursday night, they will walk College ave again Friday evening. Thursday as opening night will be a big event here. All new models of automobiles will be paraded through the downtown section, headed by the 120th Field Artillery band. A concert will be given afterward, followed by a pavement dance. Windows will be bright with new displays and there will be plenty of stunts abroad to introduce the fall merchandise. The public is asked to reserve Thursday evening for this event.

Gretna Green Popularity Hurt By Michigan Law

No longer will love-sick swains be able to sweep admiring sweethearts off their feet in a moment of fervent courtship, carry them off like knights of old to a justice of the peace and return within the short span of a few hours with a marriage certificate—not in Michigan, at least.

A new marriage law, requiring five days to elapse between the time the application for marriage has been filed and the time of the ceremony, has been passed in that state and is expected to cause a slump in the business of tying nuptial knots and give marrying justices a rest from pressing business which has been their lot in the past.

Although the drop in the marrying business in Michigan is expected, it will not assume any great proportions, for it still is easier for a young and ambitious man to take unto himself a wife in that state than it is in many others. There is no eugenic law there, and application for marriage licenses can be obtained by mail. Neither is it required that applications be posted.

Announcement of the passage of the new law will be of more than passing interest to young men of this community who are desirous of establishing a home, perhaps in the face of parental objections, etc., but it is not the purpose of this story to discourage them.

There is nothing to prevent them from obtaining their marriage license by mail, and after the necessary five days have elapsed, to go to Menominee or any of the other popular marriage centers to have the binding knot tied. In fact this is what many young couples are doing now since the new law went into effect, according to the report of several county clerks.

The only handicap which the new law has established is lengthening of the time required to go through with the ceremony.

Edna Neuman and Clementine Guenther have returned from a two weeks' visit at Egg Harbor.

A. Gabriel has returned from a three weeks' tour of Florida and the eastern states. Mr. Gabriel visited at Miami and Palm Beach, Fla. and spent one week at Philadelphia, Pa., visiting relatives.

STAGE AND SCREEN

"WOMEN FIRST" GOOD RACE HORSE STORY

Another of the Perfection Series of eight action pictures will be shown at the New Bijou Monday and Tuesday.

Eva Novak and William Fairbanks play the leads. Fairbanks, especially, lives up to his reputation for action.

The story has to do with a racing season in Kentucky. The Derby is run under unusual circumstances. One of the favorites is ridden by a woman who has not even an apprenticeship license. The judge is of the old school and he believes in the old adage of women first and waives the rules in favor of the charming young lady after hearing an outline of the efforts and underhanding plays of a man to prevent her horse from running.

The many efforts to cripple first the trainer, then the jockey and last the horse give rise to circumstances that call for fights and action. The action is most surely there. The fights are convincing. No light tossing about and pulling of punches. There is a burning stable which is a burning stable and not smoke pots set about in back. Excellent comedy is also present throughout.

BETTY "FIRES" HORSELESS CARRIAGE IN NEW PICTURE

Automobile salesmen have the easiest job in the world!

No?

Well, that's what Betty Bronson claims, and she says she can prove it. Betty is the daughter of an old inventor in her latest picture, "Not So Long Ago." This kindly old man invents himself a horseless steam carriage. Laurence Wheat, who was the Charley Paddock of these days, elicits Miss Bronson's father into a race in his horseless carriage. Wheat to run, cross-country fashion, in opposition. All is in readiness for the big race. The horseless carriage is steaming away perfectly. But, where's the fireman? Lost! Kidnapped. Maybe. So Miss Bronson got up behind the boiler and played fireman for father. More, more steam, steam, more speed!

"Goodness, what a race!" said Miss Bronson after the day's filming was over. "I got real cinders in my eye, and burnt myself on the old steam fitters, and, worst of all, my face was simply black."

And here's where the auto salesman part comes in. "Just think of the lovely, comfortable, cool automobiles they have today," she coos. "Why, people just ought to be so glad to get them it wouldn't be any trouble at all to persuade them to buy whole lots of them!"

Who won the race? Sidney Oleott directed the picture for Paramount and it features Miss Bronson and Richard Cortez at the Flower's Appleton Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Julia Swayne Gordon, Edwards Davis and others appear in support.

Violet Clark wrote the screen play from Arthur Richman's New York stage success.

PATTERSON COMPANY GETS HEATING JOB

W. S. Patterson Plumbing Co. of this city was given the contract for installing a steam heating system in Outagamie-co training school at Kaukauna, after the bids for the heating job were opened at a meeting of the county building and grounds committee at the courthouse Thursday afternoon. There were five bids submitted, two from Appleton firms, two from Kaukauna heating companies, and one from a Milwaukee heating firm.

The bid of the W. S. Patterson Co. was $11,915. The bid of the Paul A. Mueller Co. of Milwaukee was $11,890, but did not include the bond of $178 called for by the county in the submitting of bids. This bond added to the $11,890 bid of the Paul A. Mueller Co. would make the total bid of that firm higher than the W. S. Patterson Co. bid.

Other companies submitting bids were J. A. Engel, Appleton, $13,355; W. C. Ditter, Kaukauna, $13,100; C. H. Feller, Kaukauna, $13,600.

Bills for the month of August were allowed at the meeting. No other business was transacted.

"Sun-Up" which is showing at the Elite theatre today and Sunday, the wail of the public for something different would soon be appeased.

"Sun-Up," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, exhibits an intelligent transference of a great play to the screen, an unusual sense of reality and atmosphere, and performances by every member of its cast that defy criticism. To Goulding must go the lion's share of the praise for this because it is not an easy matter to tell a story in an entirely new stadium of expression. Heretofore, Goulding has been known as an author, playwright and scenarist.

"THE UNHOLY THREE" RICH IN THRILLS AND ROMANCE

Tod Browning's master crook film, "The Unholy Three," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production interpreted by an all-star cast, will be seen next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Elite theatre.

Browning, who has always been regarded as a master director of this sort of melodrama, is said to have made a heart-interest drama that will live for a long time as the best film of this type.

The story is a film adaptation from C. A. Robbins' work and was prepared for the screen by Waldemar Young, former police reporter who is familiar with the life of the underworld.

FLORIDAN LAUDS BADGER ROADS

Florida Should Pattern After
Wisconsin Highway System, Traveler Says

Enstia, Fla.—Wisconsin's system of highway marking was extolled as being the finest in the United States by Harry Leu, president of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, at the weekly luncheon of the Orlando Rotary club, Mr. Leu has just returned from Fond du Lac, Wis., where he had completed a 6,000-mile western motor trip.

"Florida can well pattern after Wisconsin's famous highway markings," said Mr. Leu. "You can't get lost in that state and the same can be said of Minnesota. At intervals of every several hundred feet there are highway markers, while at crossroads or highway junctions large signs direct the traveler to the points along these routes.

The same system prevails in the cities and it is no more difficult to find the way through a Wisconsin city than to navigate the streets of one's home town. You just can't get lost.

"With Florida the mecca of thousands and thousands of tourists every week, a better system of highway markings should be installed. I strongly urge the Orlando Rotary club to get back of such a system and secure the cooperation of other clubs in the state along the same lines."

P. A. SMITH DROVE TOO FAST IN COUNTRY

P. A. Smith, Combined Locks, was too hasty on the roads in the town of Vandenberg Thursday when he made the acquaintance of Alfred Dunn, county motorcop, and was told to appear in municipal court Friday morning and explain why he was in such a hurry. Smith appeared and explained his hurry by paying a fine of $13.20.

Now is the time to mail your entries to the Secretary of the Waupaca County Fair to be held at Weyauwega, September 15-18. ## Help That Aching Back!

Is a bad back wearing you out? Are you lame and achy, nervous and depressed? Do you suffer headaches, dizziness and disturbing bladder irregularities? Then you should know that these are often signs of kidney disorder and kidney trouble is too dangerous to neglect. Your kidneys keep the blood stream pure. Once they slow up in their work, poisons accumulate and cause an upsetting of the whole system.

Why, then, risk neglect? If you have reason to suspect your kidneys, give Doan's Pills a trial. Doan's have been used successfully for over thirty-five years. They are recommended by thousands. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Appleton Proof:

Mrs. A. Wherry, 220 S. State St., says: "My back was sore and the continuous dull pain made me nervous and irritable. My kidneys acted too freely and I had headaches and frequent dizzy spells, too. After using two boxes of Doan's Pills I wasn't troubled any more with backache and my kidneys acted all right. My general health was improved and I give Doan's the credit."

This twisted mass of wreckage is all that remains of the Shenandoah, pride of the navy's lighter-than-air forces. Among the huge girders which the Ohio storm snapped as if they were thin sticks of wood can be seen the tanks of helium, the valuable noninflammable gas used. Had hydrogen been in these tanks an explosion and fire would have been almost certain, possibly causing a much greater loss of life.

BLAME JOG IN CURB LINE TO BEND IN STREET

Engineer Says Curb Had to Be Out of Alignment to Keep It on Side of Street

While some property owners on S. Cherry-st are complaining about the appearance of the uneven curb line of the new pavement between W. Fourth and W. Fifth-sts, the situation is declared to have been unavoidable.

Numerous passersby have observed that the curb line takes an abrupt jog at this intersection, the curb on the two north corners being about 11 inches out of alignment with that on the two south corners. The remainder of the curb from W. Fifth-st up to W. College-ave is straight.

According to R. M. Connelly, city engineer, who surveyed the street and gave grades and set out the stakes for the pavement, a jog in the property line of the street was revealed by the survey. The street has two angles, the part from W. Prospect-ave to W. Fifth-st being partly diagonal to that from W. Fifth-st to W. College-ave, he says.

The stakes were originally set on a continuous line without the break. New stakes were then set at about 11 inches farther over. If this had not been done, the curb line would have diverged over 20 feet by the time it reached W. College-ave, according to one of the supervisors in charge of the paving.

Several reasons are given for the existence in the described break in the street. One of these is that this part of the city of Appleton was originally laid out in two different plats, the Grand Chute plat and the Appleton plat, and the other is that the section lines intersect at this point of the street, thus making a difference in the street line where both ends were intended to converge.

As a similar condition, a jog in the curb line of the new Richmond-st pavement was pointed out. The crook is slighter and therefore less noticeable. It is said to be at the corner of W. Packard-st.

APPLETON IS HOME OF 95 WISCONSIN GRADS

Ninety-five graduates of the University of Wisconsin are living in Appleton, according to a report just made public by the Alumni Record, an alumni publication of the state university. The report showed that an ever increasing number of graduates from the University of Wisconsin remain as residents of the state. The alumni population of the state is 11,451. Illinois has 2,734 Badger graduates, New York 907, Minnesota 822 and California has 705.

Madison has the largest University of Wisconsin alumni population of any city in the country with 2,297. Following in order are Milwaukee with 1,907; Chicago with 1,358; New York with 429; Minneapolis with 260; Washington, D. C. with 223; Los Angeles with 175; Racine with 173; La Crosse with 157; and Wauwatosa with 151.

Other Wisconsin cities have alumni populations as follows: Superior 127; Sheboygan 129; Eau Claire 135; Janesville 126; Green Bay 116; Fond du Lac 109; Beloit 104; Wausau 92; and Waukesha 89.

LEAVE STREET, NUMBER IN FORWARD ADDRESS

To avoid confusion and much loss of time at Florida postoffices next winter, postmasters throughout the country are urging persons planning on spending the winter in that state to leave their forwarding addresses with street numbers instead of general delivery at their respective post-offices.

Heretofore Florida postoffices have been swamped with general delivery mail during the tourist season, and long lines of persons in the office each day resulted in unnecessary confusion. If the greater part of this mail was addressed to street numbers instead, much time would be saved and tourists would be given better service, according to the federal post-office department.

NORMAL SCHOOL GRADS GET GOOD POSITIONS

Included among the graduates of Oshkosh Normal school who have accepted positions to teach during the next school year are Francis E. Collier of Oshkosh, located in an Appleton junior high school; Paul H. Wright, former boy's secretary at the local Y. M. C. A., to teach history and public speaking at Mazomanie; Catherine O'Connell, English and Latin teacher at Hortonville high school.

Placement of graduates of the school in desirable positions to teach has been unusually successful this summer. H. A. Brown, president of the institution, states, "There has been an especially strong call for men who have finished the course for high school teachers with majors in science and mathematics and for men with technical training secured in the industrial department," he said.

HOT WEATHER KEEPS STRAWS IN POPULARITY

The straw hat season officially closed Tuesday, Sept. 1, but actually it is still with us and probably will be for another week at least. If present fair weather holds out. To be sure the straws have decreased appreciably in number, but judging from what one sees on the streets, it is difficult to believe that the season is past. Too many models of the summer head-gear are still in evidence.

Sept. 1 has always been the day when big hats and little hats, panamas and banyard straws all hit the skids of unpopularity. In the past if the old straw hat was not given "the exit" ticket on Sept. 1 the owner was likely to find himself a social outcast and was certainly a definite liability to the hat dealers.

Many straws have still been seen on Friday, the owners evidently remembering the time when they parted with several hard-earned dollars and received in return the shapely bit of straw. And with the continuance of fairly good weather, it becomes an actual hardship to relegate the head-piece to an honorary position on the closet shelf.

And although Sept. 1 should have bid a fond farewell to the straw lid for the 1925 season, the headgear which has held the stage for the last few months persists in remaining for a last final encore.

MAIL VOTING IS MADE SIMPLER

Absent Voter Ballots Now May Be Obtained from City and Town Clerks

Voting by mail, which has always been more or less of a troublesome process, has been made easier by the passage of a new law which permits clerks in towns, cities and villages to issue blanks and file a ballot. A task heretofore restricted to the county clerk, according to John Hantschel, county clerk. A qualified voter may make application for mail ballots not more than 20 or less than 3 days preceding a primary or an election.

Such application must be made on forms provided by the county clerk. Upon receipt of application, the clerk will deliver to the voter a ballot not more than ten days less than three days preceding the election.

The ballot must then be returned to the clerk. If the application be made in person, it may be made not later than the regular office hours of the day preceding election.

The ballot may be returned up to and including election day, Mr. Hantschel states, but he advises all voters who will be out of the city and who wish to vote by mail to get their ballots in as early as possible. It is arrives so late that it cannot be sent to the voting precinct before the polls close, the vote will not count.

He suggests that voters send in their ballots at least the day preceding the election.

Application for a mail ballot must be sworn to before a notary public or before the clerk and the affidavit on the envelope in which the ballot is returned must also be sworn to before notary or clerk.

The only persons qualified to vote

by mail are those who are to be out of their respective voting precincts on election day or who through illness are unable to go to the polls in person.

No Car meets the Better BUICK in value per dollar - and here's

THE Better Buick steps far ahead of all previous standards of motor car performance.

75 Horsepower! The Buick Valve-in-Head engine has been made still more efficient by Buick engineering skill. The Master Valve-in-Head engine now delivers 75 and more horsepower. And there is 60 and more in the Standard models.

Triple-Sealed Engine! And this new Buick power is protected. Three new seals for the famous Buick sealed chassis result in decidedly longer engine life, noticeably lower operating costs—an Air Cleaner, a Gasoline Filter, an Oil Filter protect the engine.

4 and 2 Door Sedans! Real sedans with Fisher Bodies. Upholstery and fittings according to Buick's standards. Real sedans...at "coach prices."

Duotone in Duco! New beauty! The latest, smartest, most striking color and finish combinations for motor cars.

Safe Night Driving! The Better Buick introduces the Controllable Beam Headlight, without glare and without dimming.

Light Pedal Clutch! Buick's new sawtooth, ten-plate multiple disc clutch has 212 square inches of driving surface as against 30 to 80 inches in the average single-plate type.

Lower Prices! And while Buick has raised Buick quality and performance even higher than before, it has also been able to make substantial reductions in prices.

Better acquaintance with the many 1926 advancements and improvements in the Better Buick will convince you that:

TO THE PEOPLE

Governor Blaine has announced his candidacy for the office of United States Senator against Irvine L. Lenroot in the 1926 campaign. This announcement is made in time to give due notice to any other senatorial aspirants in the ranks of the so-called Progressives, that they are not to enter the field. Mr. Blaine must be unopposed in the 1926 campaign just as it was proclaimed that young La Follette must have a clear field in the present contest. The "Madison Ring" of professional political bosses meeting in private, slate-framing sessions not only decreed that Robert, Jr. be the sole candidate of the Progressives in this campaign, but now word will be passed down the line that Mr. Blaine must not have opposition from these ranks in 1926.

There has been no attempt at denial of the fact that the candidacy of young La Follette was "framed" at a secret conference of political bosses in Madison. There was considerable talk about the secret meetings which were held preceding the announcement that he should be the standard bearer of the so-called Progressives. The selection of La Follette was made without the slightest consideration of the wishes of the voters who have supported the Progressive movement. He was chosen by a handful of self-seeking machine politicians and the word was passed out that he must not be opposed in the Progressive ranks.

The steam-roller was certainly working beautifully when the slate was made in the present instance as no aspirant outside of Robert, Jr. was permitted to offer his name for the consideration of the Progressives—this in spite of the fact that Congressman John C. Schafer of Milwaukee railroad fame was all steamed up and ready to go when suddenly he found that the tracks had been removed from under him and there was no room for his campaign. The fact is that the followers of the Progressive movement have had no more share than a rabbit in framing the slates of candidates to be presented this year and next or in the declaration of principles upon which these candidates shall run for office. This is all done for them by the little ring in Madison.

Perhaps that is the way the supporters of this ring would have it, and perhaps, too, they are perfectly satisfied to have the candidates of the bosses forced upon them without a word of choice or an opportunity for protest. If this is the case things surely have changed since the inception of the Progressive movement in Wisconsin. If our memory serves us correctly the battle cry of the founders of the Progressive cause was to "bring the Government back to the people."

If this is the method to be used in bringing the government back to the people then we believe it is time for a reformation in Wisconsin. It appears that we have reached the stage in Wisconsin's political history where politicians in charge of our state affairs scheme to partition among themselves the power of our great state with absolute disregard for the wishes of its people.

DEAN RUSSELL'S TRIP

Dean H. L. Russell of the University of Wisconsin agricultural college has been selected as special representative of the International Educational Bureau and has left Madison for a year of research in the Far East and Austral-Asia to study the facilities in regard to biology, agriculture, forestry, fisheries and veterinary medicine in the countries which he will visit. This is an important mission and one which will be watched with interest by Wisconsin people. Dean Russell is well equipped to carry on this research work and it is not too much to expect that his investigations will prove of great value and perhaps result in a definite and intelligent program for the conservation of our forests and fisheries.

Heretofore this country has only scratched the surface in its attempts to perpetuate our forests and protect our wild life. There has, except in only one instance and that by the Izaak Walton league of America, been no comprehensive program mapped out for the preservation of this country's natural resources to save them to future generations. On the contrary, it has been the custom to chop down our trees without thought of replacement, kill our game without thought of the morrow and pollute our streams to such an extent that fish die by the thousands.

If Dean Russell's researches bring forth some ideas that will correct these evils, his trip will be well worth-while and he will have performed a valuable service to mankind. All of these evils can be eliminated by an intelligent campaign of education and no one is better fitted for the task than the Madison man, for he has the confidence of the people of the country as well as those of his own state.

REPEAL THE PUBLICITY CLAUSE

The publicity clause of the income tax law has now been given a fair trial. People have noted with interest the amounts paid to the federal government by the great and the near great during the past year, and doubtless have expressed surprise in many instances because the amount was larger or smaller than had been expected.

Admitting that the publication of the income tax returns has afforded entertainment to a great many people, is there anything beyond that that is accomplished by the law? Who, after reading the list of taxpayers, was able to say positively, or with reasonable certainty that this person or that person had or had not made honest returns?

It must be remembered that the advocates of the publicity clause of the income tax law, urged it upon the claim that it would prevent tax evasion. The people were to be informed, and by this fact evasion of income tax was to be prevented. They are now informed, or they are in position to inform themselves, and what is the result? Who is there that can add anything to the information that the law enforcement officials already have? It must be obvious to any reasonable person that the publication of income tax returns has accomplished nothing in the matter of preventing tax evasion.

On the other hand it has added to the incentive to avoid the payment of large income tax. Many persons find the publicity more disagreeable than the actual payment of the taxes. Those who dislike having their private affairs spread upon the printed pages will turn immediately to the legal means so commonly employed to avoid this tax, such as investing in tax exempt securities, or to subterfuges for the purpose of concealment such as making returns through little known corporations, or dividing the returns between husband and wife or among members of a family.

Moreover the law is manifestly unfair since the returns are made public only in cities where revenue offices are maintained, and no newspaper could possibly print all of the names and amounts, that would be required if results were in fact to be made public. The result is that only two classes of income taxpayers have their returns made public. They are those who pay large incomes, and those who pay incomes that are less than might be expected.

However, only the amount of tax paid is made public and there is no explanation for the reason that any return is great or small. The result is that the casual reader knows little more after reading the list than before. If the entire return showing the source of revenue, the exemptions were made public still nothing would be gained in the way of preventing tax evasion. Checking income tax returns is a matter for experts. The government with an army of experts continually at work is several years behind with this task, and there is little reason to believe that any person with sufficient curiosity and patience to wade through the returns would be able to give any assistance in the matter.

The law is ridiculous, and ought to be repealed. However since it is punishment for the minority and entertainment for the majority it probably will remain in effect for some time.

LET DOCTORS BE DOCTORS

In the city of Buffalo where there is a paradoxical combination of fine schools and a low order of popular education, a demented man confined in an institution for the insane was actually nominated for office by popular petition not long since. Such an occurrence gives food for thought.

If I were king—a most unlikely eventuality, seeing that I have never been even nominated for anything more than secretary of the medical society and dined if a mere woman didn't beat me in the election—I should summon a conference of representative subjects, sort of a privy council, to attempt to create order and uniformity in the regulations for the licensing of healers. Of course I should see to it that only men and women of fair education were invited to the conference, for it would be unfortunate indeed to permit morons to have a voice in the formulation of such laws or regulations. We ought to know how unfortunate that would be, we who live under the laws proposed and enacted by legislative bodies a considerable proportion of whose membership consists of morons. If one wonders how morons can be elected to the legislature, one should take a short course in economics in Buffalo, or any other big American town.

I should submit to the conference a tentative definition of what might have some understanding of what constitutes the practice of healing. I should absolutely prohibit any idle discussion in the conference on such immaterial questions as the methods or modes of treatment employed in healing; but if all the conferees or counselors had a fair education I suppose no such fool discussion would arise. Still, I should have my royal bouncers on hand, and at the first mention of "patents," "medicines," "druggists" and the boor would go out a flying. I should see to it that there were at least a dozen different ways in which a person aiming to practice healing may get a license, a sad commentary on our boasted progress in civilization and culture. The healer who is qualified to practice in one state or province is not recognized by its neighboring state or province is a scandal, for it is a challenge to the intelligence of the people and an excuse for much political graft.

My council would reach the sensible conclusion and we would probably issue an order in council if not a royal decree defining the practice of healing and fixing the qualifications of candidates for license upon the basis of the highest or the lowest qualifications now demanded by any state or province or a fair average of these.

Surely a healer ought to have some education—nobody wants to place such responsibilities in the hands of a delinquent. Surely the state should fix the minimum education or training required from those who would qualify as licensed healers, and not leave such a vital question to the discretion of the would be healers themselves.

Healers receiving the royal charter would of course be privileged to employ whatever method they might deem best in any circumstances—and laymen or patients would of course have to voice in determining what the method should be. It would be our royal pleasure that doctors be doctors, and patients just patients.

With the new order in effect, when any one called in a healer he would scarcely know in advance whether the healer would pray for him, massage his neck, give him a shot of serum, or a hot bath. But what matter that? The qualified healer knows what is best, and the wise patient relies upon his healer's judgment.

BOBS

In this age of bobs we have—Bobbed hair.
Bobbed tails.
Bobbed skirts.
Bobbed stockings.
Bobbed names.
Bobbed brains.
Bobbed office-seekers.
Bobbed purses.
Bobbed lives.

Few persons have been dying lately, which is probably due to the fact that it is hot enough right here. At least that is the way a local undertaker accounts for it.

Former member of the county board of supervisors is probably making it miserable for other folk now through his loquacious prolixity. Once while engaged in a long harangue at a board meeting, he passed to veil, "Mr. Chairman, I'd like a little order. There is so much noise here, I can hardly hear myself talk." Thereupon a member beside him consoled him, "Don't worry, you ain't missing much."

Things are pretty quiet in Appleton just now. This morning we saw a German police dog leaning against a telephone pole sound asleep.

We see by the Great Family Journal that a Kansas bricklayer who has helped start the new fad of bricklaying marathons can lay 35,000 bricks a day. Ye poultry men, Lamann, Loos, Goodland, etc., read this to your hens.

5-DAY WEEK IDEA
MAKING GAINS
ALL OVER U. S.

Merchants Are at Variance
Over Wisdom of Closing Stores on Saturdays, However

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—Is a five-day work week in industrial and mercantile establishments during the summer practicable? Is the idea sound from a business standpoint? Is it a good thing for labor? Does it inconvenience the general public, or can the public adapt itself easily to the innovation?

A recent survey of conditions in a number of the largest cities of the United States, and of the experience resulting from various experiments with the shorter work week, revealed sharp differences of opinion, both between various sections of the country and within individual cities.

In the main, however, it is reported to have shown a growing tendency among industrial and commercial concerns to adopt the five-day week, and almost no disposition on the part of those who have tried it to revert to the longer week schedule.

MUST HAVE PAY

The inquiry was directed to ascertain the conclusions of employers rather than those of the workers, for it goes without saying that the latter are unanimous in favoring a proposition that gives them an extra half-day holiday each week during the heated term. This attitude of labor is conditioned, however, on the workers' being paid for the full week, for it is extremely rare to find a group of employees who want the extra half-day if they have to take it at their own expense.

With employers it is primarily a question as to whether they can afford it. That is, the case of an industrial concern, whether the loss in production is so important an item that it can not be offset by considerations of the employees' welfare and happiness. In the case of one large corporation the shorter work week was tried last summer solely as an experiment, with the understanding that there should be no falling off in quantity or quality of output. Five and a half-day's work had to be done in five days of the employees were to have the full Saturday holiday. The result was a vindication to the five-day week, for the workers were bent on earning it, and they did.

With merchants the question is essentially one as to whether their sales will be substantially as great during five days as in five and a half. Manifestly no merchant would suffer materially in this respect if all his customers were on the shorter week basis, but where one adopts it and another does not the plan may work to the disadvantage of the first while it boosts the sales of the second. In such a situation the idea may not be said to have a fair trial.

MUST KEEP OPEN

The general tenor of the report from Pittsburgh is that the city's industrial population must have an opportunity to shop on Saturday and it is stated that most of the larger stores do not close even on Saturday afternoons except during August. Like-wise New Orleans reports a disapproval of the business may not justify it, but the merchants feel local conditions require Saturday morning service.

From Los Angeles, on the contrary, comes the statement that all the larger department stores close all day Saturday during July and August.

Why not let your sky line have a silver lining?

Again we implore you not to be satisfied with a mere hat when all the difference in the world is a matter of different hat stores.

Falling out in an ordinary Fall hat is easy—but dropping in to see a totally different soft hat is easier still—

The men along our hat cases these days are not purchasing a few dollars' worth of felt to carry around on their heads—they are using their brains as a pedestal for the sort of hat that deserves a pedestal even before you supply it.

Readers of Periodicals Would Like to Open Book Once
Without Finding One

From The Newcastle Courier.

It is becoming more difficult as time goes on to read the text of a periodical without meeting the self-improvement salesman. He's there every month in the front of the book with a scheme to make you a success as capacious as a blacksmith's bellows and your memory as enduring as that popularly ascribed to the elephant.

He seeks to plant in you a desire for biceps as powerful as Mr. Zbyzsko's and a will as unyielding as Gibraltar. Especially is he anxious about your will power. He insists if you say every morning: "I will have a million dollars before I die," that and have done so for several years. Many furniture and shoe stores do likewise. There general approval of the practise, sores reporting no noticeable decrease in sales and much better attitude among employees.

Seattle, it is said, would not consider a five-day week because of the distress of trade from suburban districts and office employees, while Portland stores and shop owners dismiss the idea as unfeasible. The Chicago Association of Commerce also rejects the proposal because of the volume of summer visitors to that city who want to shop on Saturday.

In general it is stated that in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Los Angeles and Baltimore the shorter week has had a thorough trial and has been found satisfactory, while in Detroit Atlanta and San Francisco it is being tried for the first time this summer and the first reports are favorable.

eventually that prospect will improve. This may be entirely true and a strong will may be capable of sealing any height. But much depends on the task set for the will. It might be as well in the end if there were courses arranged for deflation of a lot of the will power in the world.

A movement for weaker wills would ston, among other things, all future wars for it would do away with a vast amount of selfishness. A will as inflexible as Everest is not particularly precious if it is exercised in tramping on the rest of humanity to reach a seat in the sun. Lincoln did not repeat the "I will" formula periodically. Historians seem to agree that he groped along in a consciousness that he was an instrument of God.

The picture of the downy sophomores clenching his fists before the mirror and parroting the mystic ritual is engaging. But perhaps it would be better in the beginning if he substituted faith for gymnastics. Faith moves men forward with no loud grunting of teeth and digging of nails into the palms. The will developer is apt to be an annoyance to himself and a nuisance to his friends.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PROBST TO THE LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE THE SECRET DRAWER

I expect it is by some real plan of Fate that I received the three letters at the same time that I am putting in the secret drawer today.

How many times letters tell much more than the people who write them intend to tell.

In all these letters I am sure each one of the writers has written between the lines something each person had in his or her mind, but which they had no idea they had told.

Here is the letter I have just received from Bee Summers telling me about her coming baby. Bee thought she was telling me that she was afraid of birth pains when all the while she was agonizing over the fact that she is afraid when she loses her one beauty—her beautiful figure—she may lose also her husband's love.

She also unconsciously tells me that she has always been more or less jealous of the lovely girls with whom Dick comes in contact every day.

Then she really—although she does not know it—makes an open apology to Paula Perler for being jealous of her when she herself first came to Hollywood.

She has now come in some way to sense the fact that for a time at least Paula is done with men.

The most particular thing about her letter to me, however, is the long conversation she had with Paula in which the actress came to the conclusion that "the wife is not only the housekeeper and the homemaker, but also the lovekeeper of the family."

This is a new thought and, taken in connection with that letter which Jack wrote to Syd, it is a great insight to me.

Jack says to Syd, "It is perfectly astonishing how implacably unforgiving a good woman can be."

I don't quite understand his attitude, little Marquise. I forgive him wholly and adopted his child by another woman. What more could be asked? Of course, I know all that happened before we were married, and perhaps in my heart I have taken a more pride than I should in my magnanimity. The fact remains, however, I find I do have a different code.

I can see from Syd's letter that he thinks I am too hard. He thinks I make too much of strict justice and not enough of charity.

Perhaps I take it all too seriously. Jack is evidently honest in his belief that he loves me devotedly and he is very unhappy just at present. He tells Syd that I seem happy—that only means that women are always actresses; they never tell to anyone just what they think or feel. From the cradle to the grave they are always "seeming" somebody or something else, while a man can always be and usually is himself.

BOYS BACK HOME AFTER CAMPING AT HIGH CLIFF

Smith Makes Good Start on Training of Football Players for Fall

Kaukauna—About 40 boys who were camping at High Cliff for the last two weeks under the supervision of "Bill" Smith, city playground instructor, broke up camp Thursday evening and returned to their homes. The camp had been sponsored by the local Y. M. C. A. and credit has been given "Mac" McGinnis for organizing this camp for local boys.

Many of the respective football men of the high school were at the camp and for the last four days they were given regular foot ball workouts as a part of the camp program. All boys were up at 7 o'clock and for the next half hour physical exercises occupied their time. Breakfast was served at 7:30. At 8:15 the boys were called to the field for a workout which lasted until 10. From that time until the dinner hour the boys were allowed to swim or hike or do whatever they pleased. Dinner was served at 12. From then on to 3:30 the boys were free. 3:30 to 4 was spent in studying the new football rule book and in a general discussion of football and the new rules. Each boy was supplied with a rule book and had to pass a test on the new rules before he was eligible to try out for the team. The time from 4 to 5:30 was again spent on the field. Then the boys were allowed to swim for 15 minutes before supper time.

After supper the boys were free until 8:30, by which time all had to be back in camp. At 9 o'clock all lights were out. The names of all the boys were arranged in alphabetical order and each day two were appointed to assist the cook. These boys were chosen from all other work during the day. The cooking was done the first week by "Tom" Darling and the second week by Glen "Midget" Miller, the smallest quarterback ever used by Kaukauna high school as a first string man.

This camp was a supplement to the summer work of William Smith as city playground director, and each boy earned the money by which to pay his own expenses.

PIGEONS WILL RACE ON SUNDAY

Kaukauna Club's Birds Will Be Released from Janesville for Flight

Kaukauna—Members of Kaukauna Pigeon racing club will race their birds from Janesville Sunday, according to E. J. Ludtke, one of the officers of the club. Members of the club met Friday evening to discuss plans. The birds were shipped from Kaukauna Friday night and will be released from Janesville at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. This is a distance of 150 miles. Last Sunday the birds were flown from Watertown, a distance of about 100 miles; pigeons belonging to Frank Heimke and E. J. Ludtke won places. Cash prizes will be awarded the winner of first, second and third places this week. Members who will enter birds in the race are Albert Ludtke, Thomas Reardon, Frank Heimke, Edward J. Ludtke, Norman Lange, Clifford Brandt, Robert Bernard, Jacob Killian of Kaukauna and Herbert Roeland, Frank Van Agtmael and Jack Roeland of Appleton. Most members have purchased timing clocks, a specially constructed mechanism by which it is made possible to procure the exact time when a bird comes in. This makes the racing more exciting as many times several pigeons arrive at very nearly the same time and in this manner it is possible to pick the winner.

PUPILS ENROLLING AT HIGH SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Thursday and Friday were registration days at high school and Principal Olin G. Dryer was kept busy assigning the freshmen to different classes. It is expected that over 10 freshmen will be signed up before the opening of school. The enrollment at the high school will probably be over 350, according to Principal Dryer. Many high school pupils took advantage of the summer school at Outagamie rural normal to increase the number of points to their credit. Many students also made up work that was missed during the regular school year. There was many out of town students enrolled in the summer school also.

NO PICNIC ARRANGED FOR KAUKAUNA WORKMEN

Kaukauna—Although most stores will be closed and many of the mills will be shut down the Trades and Labor council of the city has not arranged a Labor day picnic this year. Most Kaukauna people will attend picnics in nearby cities.

2,500 GUESTS OF MERCHANTS AT STREET DANCE

First Big Advertising Stunt Is Success—May Attempt
Others

Kaukauna—Kaukauna merchants first big advertising stunt went "over the top." It was estimated that at least 2,500 persons attended the big free dance on the new Draper-st pavement Friday night. Music was furnished by Cecilia band of Kimberly, under direction of Prof. A. Van Humbergen brought a demand for encore after encore.

Huge spot lights donated by the city played down on the masses of people swaying to the music. Serpentine and confetti filled the air, all of which turned Draper-st into a sea of gayety. The crowd started gathering at 7 o'clock and did not leave until after the last dance at 11 o'clock.

Credit was given the police department for the way traffic was taken care of. Although there were more than 1,000 cars parked on Depot, Taylor-sts and Plank-st, there was no confusion or traffic jams. The success of this dance will probably mean the arrangement of another big attraction for the purpose of advertising Kaukauna. The work was handled by Edward Grebe, Joseph Krahn, Otto Hass, George Egan, Herbert Haessly, Charles Towles and Joseph Kuchelmester. ## FIREMEN SAVE BURNING HOME

Place Owned by Henry Rodermacher Starts Burning
During Evening

Kaukauna—Quick work of the Kaukauna fire department probably saved a house owned by Henry Rodermacher from complete destruction about 9 o'clock Friday night.

The fire alarm was turned in by a neighbor who noticed the fire, about 8:45. The distance of one and a half miles to the scene was covered in less than two minutes. The entire roof was ablaze when the fire truck arrived and the fire had to be fought with chemicals as the city water lines do not extend that far. Effective work saved the entire house from being destroyed.

Origin of the fire is uncertain. The house was not occupied by a tenant at the time of the fire, and all electric wiring leading into the house had been disconnected.

New London—Clarence Rousseau, 17, a young man who staged a break from the city jail Thursday evening, evidently thought better of his venture after a few hours, for he was again in the custody of police at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. He was found by the authorities in one of the barns belonging to the Hatten saw-mill, from where, it is said, he sent word to the police as to his location. He was again taken into custody, and two other lads, each of whom also was 17 years of age, were also arrested on the same charge as that preferred against Rousseau, that of breaking into the Equity Oil Co., of this city on the night of Aug. 27, and stealing gasoline and oil. The other two are Melvin Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton, and Richard Bodah, who lives with his widowed mother on Shawano-rd. Bodah, who has been employed near the city, was ordered to return to work, where he will be watched, and the other two were turned over to Sheriff William Toepeke of Waupaca, who lodged them in the county jail at Waupaca. # 333 KILLED BY AUTOMOBILES IN STATE LAST YEAR

Speeders, Road Hogs and
"Road Lice" Blamed for Increase in Fatalities

Madison — Automobile accidents took a toll of 333 lives in Wisconsin during 1924, the state bureau of vital statistics has announced.

A gradual increase in automobile fatalities has been recorded by the bureau each year, as follows: 1912, 21; 1913, 35; 1914, 46; 1915, 53; 1916, 76; 1917, 112; 1918, 131; 1919, 157; 1920, 189; 1921, 205; 1922, 237; 1923, 252; 1924, 333. Automobiles topped the list of causes of accidental death in 1924, the report shows, with 181 deaths. The state board of health suggested licensing of drivers and holding them accountable for methods of driving, to eliminate automobile "nuisances."

"Individual carelessness by pedestrians and drivers is the main essential in decreasing automobile deaths," the board stated. "The speed mania is not the only nor perhaps the worst offender in causing deaths. The fool who never recognizes the rights of others but insists upon stealing the other man's right of way is just as much an enemy of public safety as the speeder or intoxicated driver. Driving can never be made safe until this particular type is eliminated. Speed cops could not profitably employ their time in apprehending the violator of right-of-way rules."

"There is another auto nuisance, not so much an accident hazard, but one which causes much annoyance to the peace and pleasure of driving. That is the fellow on the narrow road who is 'not going any place and doesn't care when he gets there,' who plods along at a snail's pace and refuses to turn out and give those behind a chance to go on."

"Safety in auto driving depends as much upon eliminating the many nuisances who drive as upon reducing speed."

"One remedy is licensing the driver and holding him to strict accountability as to methods of driving."

SHARP CUTS IN PRICE ON MOON AUTOES SEPT. 1

Reductions of $50 to $200
Follow Announcement of
New 1926 Models

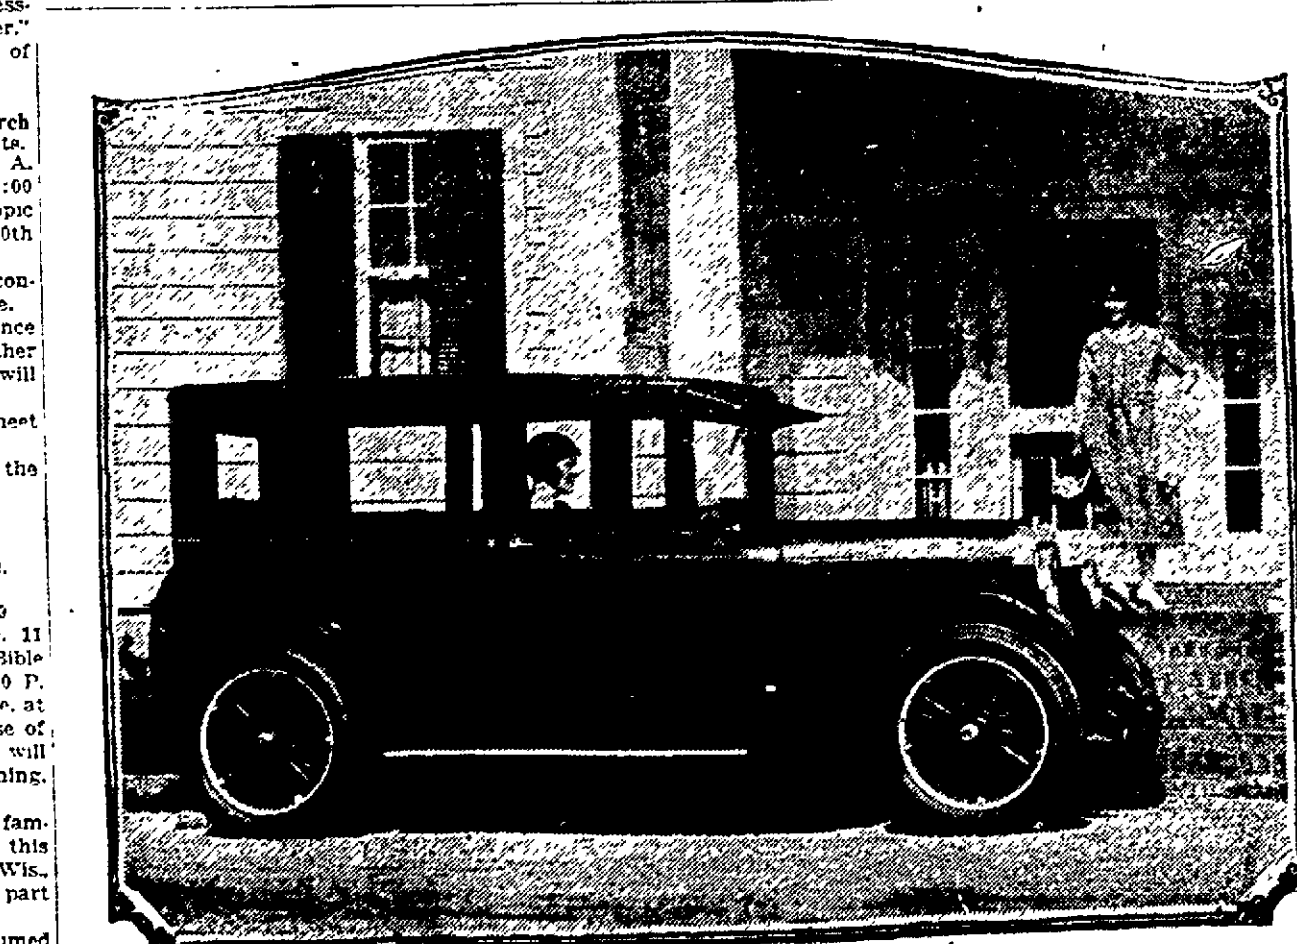

The wide acceptance, it is said, by the public of the Moon Series "A" cars and the tremendous sales on these cars during the first seven and a half months of this year coupled with the Moon Motor Car Company's effective program of economy in manufacturing its product has made possible a general price reduction in Moon cars ranging from $50 to $200. This price reduction becomes effective September first and applies to all Moon Series "A" cars with the exception of the Sport Roadster the price of this car remaining the same as at present, $1895, as does also the price of the chassis which is $995.

W. R. Brashers, Assistant General Sales Manager of the Moon Car Company, in speaking of the price cuts in Moon cars said "The Moon Series 'A' models introduced recently represent the greatest automobile value ever produced considering the prices and the numerous improvements in these cars and this fact is clearly borne out by the wide acceptance of these cars by the automobile buying public. This public is today getting more real value from the money it expends for motor cars than ever before in the history of the industry but despite this fact the Moon Motor Car Company recognizing that its great success is due wholly to the public's acceptance of its cars, is going a step farther and is making sharp reductions in the new Moon Series 'A' cars for 1926, effective September 1st, thus giving the automobile buyer the benefit of the same high value but at a lower price, in other words effecting a real saving for the buyer of Moon cars."

The price cuts of Series "A" cars for 1926 is made possible by the unprecedented sales on these cars during the past seven and a half months which has proven to be the most successful period in the history of the company, and also on account of the fact that the Moon car is the product of a $75,000,000.00 combination of engineers and manufacturers co-operating fully in the manufacture of Moon cars. The value now being built into Moon automobiles will continue as a cardinal requisite of Moon engineering and manufacturing and will under no circumstances be effected in any way whatsoever by the price reductions announced for September first. Sales for August are well ahead of sales for the same period of last year and now with the introduction of the drastic price cuts on the Moon Series "A" models for 1926 at hand sales for the next several months bid fair to eclipse any previous sales records of the company especially since we have recently acquired a manufacturing plant adjacent to our present main plant, the acquisition of this plant adding approximately 200,000 square feet of floor space to our manufacturing and shipping divisions thus giving much better facilities for the handling of the large volume of business that is sure to come with the price reductions.

DROP OLD STYLE TAXICAB BODIES FOR LIMOUSINE

Detroit Cab Company Places
Order for 220 Master Six
Buick Automobiles

The oldest cab company now operating in the United States has permanently abandoned the use of the regulation taxicab body and will use high grade limousines only in the future. This firm, the Detroit Cab Company, has placed an order for 220 Master Six Buick automobiles with a special limousine-taxi body to be built by the Fisher Body Corporation, with its tiny, crowded and roughly finished interior is passing," according to I. S. Scrimger, secretary-treasurer of the Detroit Cab Company. "This is particularly true in cities like Detroit where the majority is accustomed to ride in comfortable automobiles."

"We have been cognizant of this change in the public's desires for some time, but until recently the price of high grade cars, such as we required, has been prohibitive for taxicab purposes. During recent months, however, there has been a downward trend of automobile prices without any lessening of quality, and this has brought several of the best cars we could consider."

The Detroit Cab company was organized August 1, 1910, less than two years after the inception of the taxicab business, and now is the oldest concern operating. It has passed through all phases of the business, and has used automobiles of the early era, electrics and for the past few years, the most popular make taxicab.

The new Buicks to be used by the company will reflect the private car rather than the circus poster effects now predominating in the taxi field. The Buicks will be finished in Duco, a pleasing shade of gray up to the panel encircling the body. This panel and the top of the hood will be a harmonizing shade of blue and the top of the body will be black. The only lettering will be a neat inscription on each rear door panel which will read "Detroit Cab Co." and the driver's number.

The front seat is separated from the rear compartment by heavy plate

SOUTH AMERICA FOR U. S. TIRES

Monroe Doctrine of Commerce Is Being Carried Out in Neighbor Continent

Airton Ohio—The Monroe Doctrine of commerce "America for American products," has been observed in South America during the year, which has been the leading continent in importing auto tires from the United States. Although South America took 224,457 tires out of a total of 930,449 exported from the United States in the first half of 1925 her quota may be higher in the remaining months of the year, according to Miller tire officials.

This is expected because South America, laying below the equator, is entering its summer weather while this country is leaving the touring season behind and approaching winter. "Because the summer is approaching there more tires will be needed."

Argentina led the world in importing American made tires, her imports during the first half of 1925 amounting to 39,211 tires and 319,226 tubes. Her imports of tires compared with her total automotive imports were relatively larger than many other countries.

In spite of Great Britain's position as being in control of the world's largest crude rubber supply England imports of American made tires amounted to 90,850, together with a total of 45,493 tubes, their second largest importer of American tires in the world.

Brazil, another South American country, was third in the import of American made tires, having received 70,880 the United States and 53,913 tubes. Denmark was fourth with 56,185 tires and 64,602 tubes.

United States possessions used a large number of our rubber products. Chief among them were the Philippine Islands which received 42,756 tires and 34,102 tubes. Hawaii used 41,371 tires and 42,493 tubes. Porto Rico received 27,178 tires and 21,044 tubes, and Alaska only 1,794 tires and 1,530 tubes.

The driver's seat extends across half the width of the car, leaving a large space for baggage, and will be upholstered in leather. The interior of the cabs will be finished in Buick style, velvet mohair being used for the upholstery. Drivers will wear chauffeur's uniforms of gray whipcord.

CHRYSLER SALES IMPROVED LINE NEAR PEAK MARK OF BODY TYPES FOR NEW FORDS

Prominent Manufacturer Predicts Production Will Be 95 Per cent of Record

Walter P. Chrysler, president Chrysler Sales Corp., is enthusiastic about prospects for the motor industry for the last half of 1925. In a statement printed by the Wall Street Journal during the past week, he said: "Automobile sales for 1925 will very closely approach those of 1923 the record year. Production will probably run 95 per cent of 1923 and with a general tendency all along the line of holding down dealers stocks to current sales demand, the industry should go into 1926 in a very healthy condition."

"The recent reductions should be looked at as a very constructive thing. The same number of cars that cost the public $2,000,000,000 at the old prices will now cost the public $1,750,000,000 at the new prices. These $250,000,000 less credit will be required to handle the financing. This virtually means an addition of $150,000,000 to the fund available for financing motor cars and should be reflected in sales during the coming six months."

"In figuring future demand for motors few people nowadays take consideration of the greater mileage gotten out of cars. Where a few years ago a motor who ran his car 5,000 miles a year was the exception, now a man who does not run 20,000 miles a year is the exception. Motor transportation has got to be figured on the mileage basis—not how many years the car lasts—and while cost per mile has been going steadily downward, the number of miles per month or year for every driver: it has been going steadily upward. And it has been going steadily upward. The road system is being extended. Competition is also finding its expression in other directions than price, as indicated by the Chrysler finance plan which will save our purchasers about $5,000,000 during the coming year."

"On the basis of number of miles per dollar invested in motor cars the public is receiving eight times as much for its money as five years ago. Not only is first cost nearly half as much as in 1920 but the user is getting nearly four times the number of miles per year out of his car. That makes the investment cost per mile one-eighth of its former cost."

"The Chrysler Corporation will ship approximately 18,000 cars in August. Our plants are heavily oversold. The renewed purchasing power of the farming sections is just beginning to be felt, and with plentiful credit supply and full employment generally over the country I can see nothing but continued prosperity for a good many months to come."

Changes Are Pronounced — Bodies Longer, Lower and All Steel

Body changes and chassis refinements are more pronounced than any made since the adoption of the Model T chassis were announced here today by the Ford Motor Company. There will be no advance in price, it also was stated.

Outstanding features of the improvements in both open and closed types are lower, all-steel bodies on a lowered chassis, complete new design in most body types, a change from black to color in closed cars, larger, lower fenders, newly designed seats and larger, more powerful brakes.

Longer lines, effected through higher radiator and redesigned cowl and bodies are apparent in all the improved Ford cars, but are especially pronounced in the open types. Wide crown fenders hung close to the wheels contribute to the general effect of lowness and smartness.

While Runabout and Touring Car remain in black, the closed bodies are finished in harmonious color schemes, enhanced by nickel radiators. The Coupe and Tudor body are finished in deep channeled green while the Fordor is rich Windsor Maroon.

Greater comfort is provided for driver and passengers in both open and closed cars by larger compartments, more deeply cushioned seats and greater leg room.

Many new conveniences are also incorporated in the improved cars. In the Runabout, Touring Car, Coupe and Tudor, the gasoline tank is under the cowl and filled through an ingeniously located filler cap completely hidden from sight by a cover similar in appearance to a cowl ventilator. One-piece windshield and narrowed pillars in the Tudor Coupe offer the driver greatly increased visibility and improved ventilation.

Four doors are now provided on the Touring Car and two on the Runabout, permitting the driver to take his place from the left side of the car, curtains, held secure by rods, open with the doors.

Most important in the mechanical changes are the improved brakes. The transmission brake drum and bands have been considerably increased in size which gives the foot brake softer and more positive action as well as longer life. The rear wheel brake drums are larger and the brake of self energizing type.

At the main offices of the company it was stated today that production of the new line is under way in all assembly plants of the company throughout the country and the improved cars are being sent to dealers for showing.

YOUTH ADMITS 2ND OFFENSE IN MILWAUKEE

Hurried Stop at Filling Station Here Causes Tip to Local Police

Pursuit by phantom officers turned into reality for George Wohlfell, 229 Martin-st., Milwaukee, Friday evening, for when chased by Appleton police he was overtaken at Clintonville and there arrested for stealing an automobile. He is being held at the police station pending the arrival of Milwaukee police, where he will face a charge of breaking a parole for a similar offense.

A tip from residents whose names the police refused to divulge sent the police touring car in hot pursuit after the Milwaukee driver. A short time previous he had stopped at the filling station at N. Oneida and E. North-sts., as the large coach he was driving had run out of fuel.

This occurred a about 7:40 in the evening, somewhat more than three hours after he had left Milwaukee. He had evidently driven very fast, and he was in a highly excited state of mind. Perspiration caused by other than the hot weather oozed down his cheek and would not be checked by the night air. Frequently he turned around to see if he was followed. It is said.

DASHES AWAY
The driver of the pursued car asked for five minutes of grace and also asked to have his radiator fixed. It was being fixed. During all this he did not stop off the engine. Just as the station attendant finished and was about to collect his bill, the diversions of the engine an-hour, got down on highway 47.

A few minutes later the wires were busy between Appleton and Clintonville, and Chief George T. Prim and Officer Albert Deigen were on the stolen car's trail. When the police arrived at New London, they made inquiries of the police there, and continued on to Clintonville.

HAD DESCRIPTION
Chief Prim had previously learned the license number and had communicated to the neighboring city, as well as to Milwaukee where the owner of it lives. At Clintonville they found the car in front of a soft-drink parlor. Four or five young men were drinking at the bar. When the chief entered and asked the proprietor who was the driver of the car parked outside, one man started to edge away with a feigned air of nonchalance. It was Wohlfell.

Accused of stealing the car, Wohlfell admitted the theft, and also said he was on parole for stealing another car.

"I suppose I'll get mine when I get back," he worried.

The coach was found to be property of John Kettenhefen, 1669 Forty-first-st.

M'GOVERN WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Rousing Reception Will Be on Arrival Given Senatorial Candidate

A rousing reception has been planned for the arrival of E. McGovern, former governor of Wisconsin and now candidate for United States senator, when he arrives in Appleton Saturday evening to deliver a campaign speech at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

The 120th Field Artillery band will head a parade of McGovern supporters down E. College-ave just previous to the address which is scheduled for 8:30. About two dozen red fire fuses will be burning along the avenue and in front of the chapel, to give the McGovern meeting all the atmosphere and "pep" of an old-time political rally.

Mr. McGovern will have a busy day Saturday as he is scheduled for five speeches in this vicinity. The first was at New London at 10:30 Saturday morning. From there he went to Clintonville for an address and from Clintonville he was escorted to Shaw, where he spoke at 2:30. Mr. McGovern was scheduled to speak in Seymour at 4:30 Saturday afternoon and to arrive at Appleton in time for a dinner with friends and acquaintances here.

MAIL CARRIERS WILL HAVE REST LABOR DAY
There will be no city or rural mail delivery on Monday, Labor day, according to an announcement at the Appleton postoffice. Service windows, however, will be open from 8 to 10 o'clock in the morning, and one collection of mail will be made in the evening in the business district. Most of the substitutions will be open a part of the day. They are as follows: Station No. 1, Downer's west end pharmacy, 504 W. College-ave; No. 2, Rab's grocery, S. Mason and W. Second-sts; No. 3, Volght's drug store E. College-ave and N. Morrison-st; No. 3, Pettibone-Peabody company; Rademacher grocery, 605 N. Superior St.

Frank Aldrich resigned his position Sept. 1 with the American Railway Express Co., where he had been employed for nearly eight years. Mr. Aldrich intends to take up orchestra work.

Nolan, Clara Lemke, Louise Lang, Theodore Lang, August Unverick, Edward N. Smith, O. P. Cuff, A. G. Stranen and Elsie Stranen.

FIGHT TO KEEP YELLOW TRAIL IN WISCONSIN

Delegations at Fond du Lac Told State Is Not Meeting Its Share

Agitation to keep the Yellowstone trail, Wisconsin's only transcontinental highway, from being rerouted through territory which does not include Wisconsin, was started at a meeting in Hotel Retlaw in Fond du Lac Thursday at which nine cities on the trail were represented. The trail formerly passed through Appleton entering the city from the south over highway 15 and going westward out of town over highway 18 but Appleton was stricken from the route about a year ago, when authorities of the Yellowstone Trail association complained that this city was not paying its fair share for the upkeep. The trail now passes out of Oshkosh in a westerly direction on highway 58.

Cities represented at the Fond du Lac meeting were Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Milwaukee, Eau Claire, Wausau, Abbotsford, Stevens Point, Marshfield and Minneapolis. H. O. Cooley, manager of the Yellowstone Trail association, delivered an address to the delegates Thursday afternoon in which he set forth the benefits brought by interstate traffic along the trail to the cities through which it passes. It is the only organization, he said, which is selling Wisconsin to motorists outside of the state.

Mr. Cooley stated that in 1924 the trail association received $3,200 from cities in the state, but that the expense of remarking the route through Wisconsin alone was $3,800. He said that out of 2,110 membership pledges in Wisconsin only 910 had been fulfilled. For a year he promised 155 memberships but only two were taken. Mr. Cooley said.

STORE WINDOW BROKEN BY CAR

High Cliff Man Puts on Brakes Too Heavily—Zuelke Store Is Hit

Losing control of a car which he was driving when he applied his brakes too quickly on the slippery pavement near the intersection of College-ave and Oneida-st at about 10:30 Saturday morning, William Limberg sent the machine against the plate glass window of the Irving Zuelke music store, wrecking the window completely. Limberg, who is employed at Adam Goss, a farmer at High Cliff, was driving his employer's car at the time of the accident and Goss was sitting in the machine. They were traveling east on E. College-ave and were approaching the intersection with Oneida-st when the traffic lights changed from green to red. Limberg applied his brake in too much of a hurry and the car shot up over the sidewalk and against the show window. Neither occupant of the car was injured by the shower of glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Behnke, Miss Helen Grupe, Miss Lamma Boeslager, Miss Mabel Bergelin, Milford and Harvey Bergelin and Walter Behnke, all of Hilbert, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Behnke, Friday evening.

LANDSOWNE OPPOSED TO SHENANDOAH'S JOURNEY

Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne (right), says that her husband, Com. Zachary Lansdowne, protested against taking the Shenandoah on a western trip this week because of the probability of frequent storms. She charges because the secretary wanted "to play politics by sending the ship over the middle west." At the left is Mrs. Betsy Ross Lansdowne of Greenville, O., mother of the dead commander, who is shown in the center.

MARINE BAND IS BIG FEATURE OF ARTIST SERIES

Conservatory of Music Brings World Famous Entertainers Here This Season

With a concert by the world famous United States Marine band as the feature number, the Community Artists series of Appleton has arranged what is probably the strongest course ever offered music patrons of this vicinity. The concerts will be in Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Opening on Oct. 13 with a coloratura soprano recital by Queena Mario, Metropolitan opera star, this year's course includes such renowned artists as Kathryn Meisle, acclaimed as one of the world's greatest contraltos; the United States Marine band; Arthur Shattuck, noted pianist of Neenah; the De Reszke Singers, male quartet appearing with Hildred Dilling, harpist; Jacques Thibaud, France's greatest violinist. As an extra-series number, there is booked Paul Whiteman and his 30-piece concert orchestra, which gives Appleton musical lovers seven high grade concert numbers for the 1925-26 series.

POPULAR HERE
The character of this year's series bespeaks the regard in which performers of real talent are held in Appleton. It is one of the few cities of its size that year after year has the advantage of high grade concert numbers. The Community Artists series, started seven or eight years ago, has become an established institution fulfilling the needs of lovers of good music here and in surrounding communities.

The series is, as usual, backed by Lawrence Conservatory of Music, without which there probably would be no program of the quality that Appleton now is accustomed to. Sale of season tickets will be opened Monday, Sept. 1, according to Carl J. Waterman, dean of the conservatory. United States Marine band, known as the President's personal band, is acknowledged as the greatest military band in the world. This musical aggregation, coming here on Monday, Nov. 2, with Capt. William H. Santleman as conductor, will start a tour this fall by special permission of President Coolidge.

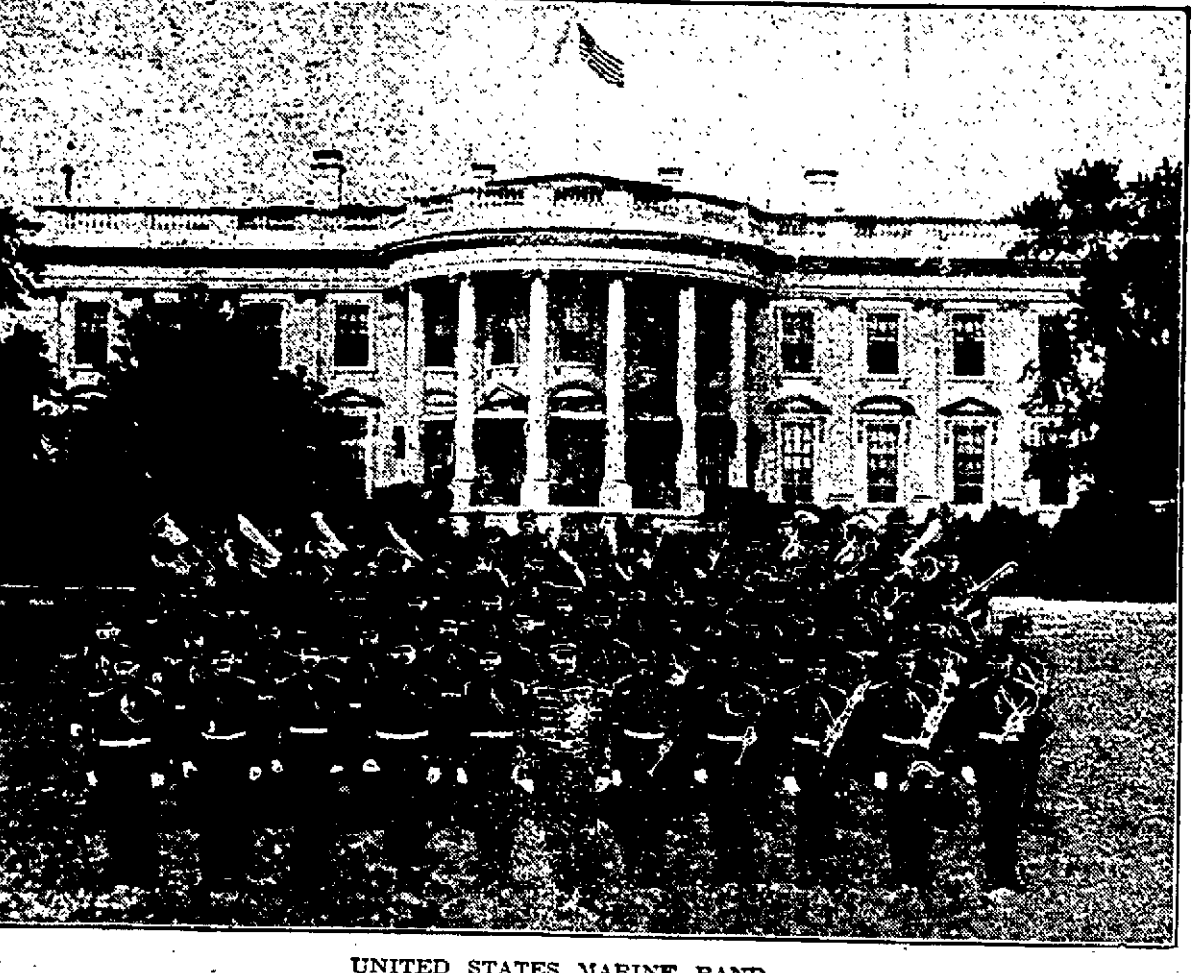

The band was organized 124 years ago and has played for every president from Thomas Jefferson on. It has been led by some of the world's most distinguished directors, including Philip Sousa. Its present conductor, Capt. Santleman, has been with the organization since 1893. He is familiar with every instrument and has received many honors from universities for his recognition of his ability. Until 1911 it was only at intervals of 10 to 20 years that the band ever was heard outside of Washington. President Taft gave permission for a tour, and since then the band usually goes on a tour every year at a time when its absence from Washington will not interfere with its official duties.

The year's program is as follows: Oct. 13—Queena Mario, coloratura soprano. Nov. 2—United States Marine band. Jan. 12—Arthur Shattuck, pianist. Jan. 21—De Reszke Singers and Hildred Dilling, harpist. Feb. 8—Jacques Thibaud, violinist. In addition to the preceding six regular numbers of the course, Paul Whiteman and his concert orchestra will appear here on March 17.

STAR OF OPERA
Queena Mario, the coloratura soprano, has won a positive success on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera company. She has finished her second season with that aggregation. During this time she sang ten leading roles, an almost unparalleled feat. The roles include Marguerite in Faust, Lucia in Lucia di Lammermoor, Gilda in Rigoletto, Juliet in Romeo and Juliet and others. She is an American product and the protégé of Mme. Margella Sembrich, to whose beautiful voice her own is often likened. She sings as though there were a thrush in her throat, critics say.

The only other individual vocal artist of the series is Kathryn Meisle, who has scored triumphs in leading roles with the Chicago Civic Opera.

COMING TO APPLETON

UNITED STATES MARINE BAND

company. Along with her success on the operatic stage, she has established herself equally in the concert field. Her voice is that rare and fortunate quality known as a natural contralto. It possesses great power, is rich and full and remarkable for flexibility. In quality and range it suggests the voice of the greatest contralto of all time, Mme. Schumann-Heink. Miss Meisle will have the assistance of pianist Loomis, pianist-composer, as accompanist.

This vicinity is particularly proud in having one of the leading pianists of the country come from here. Arthur Shattuck, Neenah, will come to Lawrence Memorial chapel for a return engagement.

He has received favorable commendation throughout the world. He has toured extensively in Europe giving recitals in all music centers. In America he has had frequent appearances with great symphony orchestras. This year he plays with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the New York Philharmonic orchestra and others.

FAMOUS QUARTET
One of the most unusual ensembles of vocal music ever to have appeared here will be heard when the De Reszke Singers perform here this winter. These four young men, singing in male quartet, have had the advantage of being coached by the great Jean De Reszke himself. The latter was considered not only the greatest but also the most discriminating of voice teachers. He allowed this group of two tenors, baritone and bass to use his name. They are Erwyn Mutch, Hardesty Johnson, Floyd Townsley and Sigurd Nelson. An added touch of quality is given this number with a harpist, recital by the distinguished American harpist, Hildred Dilling.

Jacques Thibaud comes back to Appleton without the necessity of an introduction. Several hundred music lovers of this city and vicinity thrilled at the magic touch of his fingers on the strings three years ago, and he is expected to draw a large crowd by reason of his great reputation here at that time. His dignified art qualifies him as one of the greatest living violinists.

The presentation of Paul Whiteman and his orchestra is a departure from the conventional type of concert numbers. This is not a symphony orchestra and it does not play operatic or classical music. It caters in a more marked degree to the popular taste. Whiteman's orchestra is known as a popular concert orchestra of the highest order and the concert has been termed "an experiment in American music." The rendition is an interpretation of various types of modern American music without sacrifice of dignity.

The orchestra is known as an extraordinary group of performers, every one an artist in his line, and most of them doubling on instruments. "One man masters no few."

PARADE OPENS LABOR'S FETE

Day Will Be Quietly Observed With Exception of Picnic at Park

While Appleton in general will benefit Monday by the holiday dedicated to labor, Appleton labor ranks will observe the day with a family picnic at Pierce park. Homes of labor will be closed, and in place of the dinner at home, a basket lunch will be eaten at the park.

No speakers have been engaged for Labor day this year, as it was felt that the other activities of the picnic might interfere with the program of addresses. The regular contests for the young and also for their elders will be held. The day will be made more pleasant by a band concert at the park.

The band, an aggregation of Appleton musicians, will also lead the big street parade which will start on E. College-ave at 10 o'clock in the morning and proceed to the park. The various unions will line up at their given points at 3:45. Elmer Johnston is marshal of the day, and E. A. Heldman is assistant marshal.

WHEEL PASSES OVER CYCLIST*John Dowe Is Hurt Painfully When Machine Skids and Throws Him

Although a wheel of an automobile passed over his chest, John Dowe, 619 N. State-st., was spared serious injury in an accident which occurred at 6:30 Saturday morning on S. Oneida-st near the Fox River Paper Co. mill.

Dowe was riding a motorcycle on his way to work at the Riverside Fibre and Paper company mill, and as he passed over the canal bridge his vehicle skidded throwing him on the pavement and in the path of an approaching automobile driven by Clyde Cavert, an instructor at Appleton vocational school.

The automobilist tried hard to avoid the man on the pavement, but the best he could do was to turn so as to allow only one of the wheels to pass over him. Cavert took the injured man to a physician's office where an examination revealed a number of bruises and a gash on the head as well as a cut at one of his eyes. The chest was not crushed and, it appears he has no internal injuries.

"Y" Open Monday
Appleton Y. M. C. A. will be open the entire day on Monday, Labor day, according to George F. Werner, general secretary. The cafeteria also will be open during the regular hours. Secretaries will be on duty in all departments.

Mrs. Joseph Lynch, daughter Mildred and son Sylvester left Saturday for Chicago where they will spend two weeks. They will then go to Racine where they will visit two weeks before returning home.

OPEN VOCATION SCHOOL TUESDAY

Registration Will Take Place for Day Classes at That Time

Nine courses will be offered boys at the vocational school this year. H. F. Hellig, director, announced Friday. They include, machine shop, cabinet making, carpentry, electrical work, printing, drafting, commercial, plumbing and perhaps papermill work. Homemaking and commercial are the two chief subjects offered girls.

Registration for day classes at the school will start Tuesday, Sept. 8. Only two changes have been made in the faculty for the ensuing year and only four in the last five years.

Members of the faculty, and the subjects each will teach are: Ray Challoner, machine shop; J. Chiswick, cabinet making and carpentry; Clyde Cavert, electrical work; Frederick Maeder, plumbing; Selmer Snetter, printing and drafting; Mrs. Bertha Barry and Harold Bachman, commercial; Miss Mabel Behnke, cooking and supervising; Miss Ida Wundelich, sewing; Mrs. M. Learn the Facts About the Revolution in American Forestry American citizens have before them a specter of an American without wood. As a result country-wide attention is focused on the forest problem.

Three times as much timber is cut each year as is allowed to grow. The Forest Service is authority for the statement that two-thirds of the timber which is cut is wasted.

Lumbering is second only to agriculture among the basic industries yet the average person knows little about it.

Our Washington Information Bureau has for free distribution an illustrated booklet entitled "Our American Forests." It explains the critical situation of forestry and states what the new forest movement proposes to do about it.

Inform and entertain yourself with this romantic story of American trees. Send in the coupon below and enclose 2 cents in stamps for return postage.

WAUPACA CITY DADS DIVIDED ON FIRE TRUCKS

Majority of Committee Will Recommend Purchase, Minority Will Oppose Deal

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Purchase of a fire truck for the city of Waupaca is causing much discussion among the public. At the next meeting of the city council Tuesday, Sept. 15, a report of the fire committee will be made.

One report by the majority will recommend the choice of certain trucks, while a minority report is expected to advise to reject all bids. It is a known fact that certain members of the council are absolutely against the purchase of additional equipment for the fire department at this time. They point to the fact that the present fire fighting apparatus is adequate if properly handled. Mayor Parotto has declared himself against the purchase also. One alderman interviewed said he was in favor of further street improvements before any large sum is expended for other public improvements. From his point of view certain streets in the city upon which come of the state trunk lines are routed and bear a heavy burden of traffic are becoming badly in need of improvement.

By a vote of the people at the election last spring a referendum on the purchase of the fire equipment not to exceed $5,000 was passed by a favorable majority. When this is drawn to the attention of those opposed, they say the people are not informed as to what is most needed, and that the fight will be made at the council meeting.

The Importance of Making a Will

UNLESS you leave a will your estate will be distributed according to law. The court will appoint an administrator who may be a stranger to your family. His duty will be to distribute your property as the law of the state approves. Your heirs will receive their legal portion to dispose of as they please. Your wife will receive only her statutory share, which may be considerably less than what you might desire.

The estate laws are created to cover conditions generally, and if applied to your affairs may work hardship or inequalities. To die intestate—without leaving a will—may result in much trouble for your dependents.

In order to insure that your estate will be distributed according to your wishes and in the manner best suited to the requirements of your own family, have a capable attorney draw your will, and name this company as your executor and trustee.

ONCE A PATRON OF
"Y" CAFETERIA,
ALWAYS A PATRON

Strangers and City Folks
Alike Are Pleased With Y.
M. C. A. Service

Thousands of people have commented on the excellence of the food served at the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria, and many who have come from distant parts of the country and have had a meal at this cafeteria always make it a point to stop again at the same place if they ever return to Appleton. A great number of Appleton people who take their lunch down town go to the cafeteria every day and are too well satisfied to even think of changing. Here are a few quotations from some of the thousands of cafeteria patrons:

"I'm coming again because this place is most like home cooking—
fresh and tasty."

"We're just finishing a 1,500 mile touring trip and this is the best place we've struck yet."

"Your food tastes so good that I eat more than I should."

Transient — "Who comes often-ter I do? Just Sunday meals and breakfast I have elsewhere, when you are closed."

Tourists: "We always look for cafeteria where we can have a selection of foods within the means of our purses."

Tourists: "This is certainly a very nice cafeteria. We enjoyed the meal so much."

Regular — "The cherry pie is delicious."

"When we get back to Chicago
we're going to boost Appleton Y. M.
C. A. Cafeteria."

Quotation from one of the Dormitory Residents: "I would like to see a place where I could get half as much for my money with half the quality."

Minister — "I had a right good dinner—thank you very much."

One Guest to Another. "Next to your home isn't this the best place to eat?"

Another — "That's why I come here so often."

Lady: "I missed this place since I was here last summer. Here is where we always find real home cooking."

Stranger: "We're here again. This is certainly a nice place to eat."

Cashier of Y. M. C. A. Cafeteria
Madison to Manager Y. M. C. A. Cafeteria of Appleton: "A traveling man told me the other day that the Y. M.
C. A. Cafeteria of Madison and the Y.
M. C. A. Cafeteria of Appleton were the best in the state."

Tourist: "You have a dandy pic-nicker here."

Lady: "Your dinner was so good.
Everything tastes fine."

Stranger: "Your meals make me have a coming appetite, hence my second order."

Occasional Visitor — "Wonderful dinner and I'm coming for the chicken pie tomorrow."

Frequent Visitor — "You certainly have a wonderful cook down here.
Everything is fine."

Stranger from Coast to Coast —
"I go all over the country and I'm enjoying my meals here better than anywhere else. Just fine."

Copper Bound To Come Back
When Surplus Stock Is Gone

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W.
Babson was today asked this question: "In case you were told to invest money in the stock market today in what two classes would you invest for the long pull, that is, if you could put the stocks away and lock them in your box?" He answered, "Copper and oil." Mr. Babson wished it entirely understood that he was speaking of the outlook over a term of years and did not refer to the immediate trend of the securities. He did not go into details regarding the oil, but explained his reasons for believing in the long distance future of the copper industry.

COPPER NOT DESTROYED
During the war the production of all basic commodities was greatly expanded. In certain lines manufacturing capacity was doubled, tripled, and even quadrupled. What took place in regard to shipping, machine tools, and various other lines is common knowledge to all. Of course, practically all of the ammunition manufactured during the war was quickly destroyed. In addition a large amount of iron, steel, machinery and lumber, together with other products were either destroyed or made practically useless. Since the war the surplus of army shoes and other wearing apparel and supplies have been gradually absorbed at prices very much below their cost.

"The one commodity, the production of which was greatly increased for war purposes and which was not destroyed, was copper. Copper is perhaps the most indestructible of cheaper metals, while its specific use during the war even tended to ward its conservation. The primary use of copper during the war was for the casing of shells. Although the powder, shot and the projectile itself was thrown into the enemy's camp, the copper casing of the shell remained in the gun and was used over and over again. After the Armistice these copper shells and the large amount of copper in other forms was collected and has since been going into peaceful uses. The surplus while other products were destroyed or quickly absorbed, the copper market has been waterlogged for some years by the over supply produced during the war and by that huge amount which was used and salvaged from the battlefields.

"We are just approaching a point where the surplus amount is being used up and where all foreign consumers are forced to buy in the open market. This has resulted in reducing the copper in storage from 540, 000 tons at the end of 1919 to about 300,000 tons at the present time, a decrease of around 240,000 tons.

LOW COST MINES
"Another factor which has had a depressing effect on the price of both the copper metal and copper specities has been the great production of foreign mines at a very low cost. I refer to mines such as the Chili Copper Company in South America and such as the Katanga mines in Africa.

Owing to the tremendous quantities of this low grade copper ore in South America and Africa, and the low price of labor, it has been possible to land the metal in New York at 8 cent or less a pound. When one considers that in the case of African copper the Katanga mines are several hundred miles from the sea coast, it will be seen how low is the cost of the copper at the mine. Not only are these South American and African mines producing great quantities at the present time, but in addition Asia and other continents have produced mines. All of these low cost producing conditions as well as the surplus supplies left over from the war has tended to keep the price of copper down.

"Reports from South America and Africa indicate that costs are now at their lowest ebb. Confidential reports from Chili lead me to believe that the Chilean Government is seriously considering an appreciable export tax which will have a tremendous effect on the international market. If any kind of a tax is imposed, certainly an export tax on a natural commodity which is becoming depleted is truly reasonable. The morality of all import taxes is questioned by many people; while the export tax on annual products such as wheat, corn, coffee, and rubber is open to serious considerations. The most radical, however, agree that a nation is justified in protecting certain basic natural resources such as timber, copper and other natural resources which can never be replaced.

Hence, it is probably only a question of time when a considerable export tax will be placed on copper from South America, and also copper from Africa, Asia and other continents."

"Native labor in these foreign countries is also beginning to get wise.
Then 10 cent a day labor is all gone and 50 cents a day must be paid to a large portion of this cheap labor.
While some of them are getting as much as a dollar a day, however,
low labor costs may be it is a safe prediction that the wages at these low cost mines will be higher each year as time goes on. The tendency during the next ten years will be a leveling of wages throughout all parts of the world. Although wages in the more prosperous countries may come down somewhat, yet the leveling process will largely consist in increasing wages in other countries. This change in the wage scale means higher rather than lower priced copper for these low cost foreign mines, while anything in the way of export taxes should mean a decided increase in the prices of copper.

"Export taxes and higher wages in connection with foreign copper should be distinctly beneficial to the United States copper interests, especially to the low grade mines of the southwest. The time may even come when the Lake coppers will come back, although this will not be in the way which many people now think.
If the Lake copper companies again become valuable it will be for other reasons which I cannot now discuss.

However, anything along the lines mentioned above which takes place in foreign countries would be bound to react to the benefit of the United States copper mines. Increases in foreign railroad, steamship, and other freight rates would also help domestic copper. The radical movement now developing among seamen, and the scrapping of ships all tend toward higher shipping rates and therefore higher domestic copper as against foreign copper. It takes a long time for an industry to become adjusted to new conditions, but the adjustment in copper eventually will come about.

"The uses of copper are continually on the increase. Not only are people using more copper through greater consumption of goods where copper is already used, but new uses are continually being devised. It was not many years ago when copper was used on roofs only for flashing, but now with the copper shingles on the roofs are being made of copper. Hundreds of new uses have been devised during the past ten years. The electrical industry will always be dependent on copper and the great developments today in public utilities must of necessity benefit the copper situation. However, these electrical developments have merely started. The light and power companies are today wiring their plants with copper. The consolidations are on the increase and great superpower systems will be formed. This will greatly increase the need for copper both in the central stations and for transmission lines. Therefore, while the surplus has gradually been cleaned up, the demand has gradually been increasing.

Business today stands at 10 per cent above normal on the Babsonchart as compared with 11 per cent below normal a year ago."

Bureau.)

DEMAND LUMBER FOR FALL WORK

Building Permits in 377 Cities
Are Greater for Same Period Last Year.

Active demand for building lumber
during the fall season is seen in reports from both city and rural areas, says the American Lumberman. Chicago. Building permits for July in 377 principal cities were 41 per cent greater than for the same month last year, while the approaching end of the harvest season in agricultural areas finds country yards with low stocks. Seven hundred yards in the Minneapolis trade territory, embracing the Dakotas, Montana, Minnesota and northern Wisconsin, on August 1 reported stocks of 114,000-000 feet as compared with 128,000,000 feet on that date last year, while stocks of 238 yards in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Wyoming were 4.5 per cent less in the same comparison. With mill stocks of both southern pine and fir low and in poor assortment, the difficulty which softwood producers will experience in meeting this heavy potential demand should be reflected in a stronger market.

While the production of southern pine mills for the week ended August 22 gained slightly, shipments were five per cent and orders six per cent above production. Bookings of fir mills exceeded production by seven per cent, notwithstanding an increase in output to approximately five per cent.

Southern pine mills are finding their market in agricultural areas of the South and to a certain extent in the Middle West, which is also taking considerable quantities of fir, rail orders for fir from that section being the largest in several months.

Export sales of fir are on the increase and the brightest feature of the market is the continued activity of the Atlantic Coast trade, which is now accepting recent advances without

LACQUERING IN GOLD AND SILVER
AMONG LOST ARTS

High Cost of Process Cuts Demand and Drives Men from Trade

What is said to be one of the lost arts is the gold and silver lacquer work in picture mouldings. This art was common 20 or 25 years ago, but is scarcely to be found nowadays.
There are a number of interesting mouldings at the Koletzke store at 217 E. College-ave, where pictures are framed, picture mouldings and musical instruments sold. The reason that lacquer work on mouldings is a lost art is that silver and gold lacquered mouldings rose so high in price that people could no longer afford them, consequently demand for lacquered work fell off, few men went into this trade, and today there are only a very few people in this country, and not many in Europe, who can do gold and silver lacquer work on picture mouldings.

Practically all the picture mouldings sold today are burished work, or painted directly on the wood frame.
Art figures, and designs found on mouldings are stamped or pressed into the wood. There is some metal leaf moulding work, but this too is quite rare, because of the cost of metal leaf.

In the old lacquered mouldings a coating of plaster paris was applied over the wooden frame, and on this was placed a layer of silver lacquer.
The layer of gold lacquer was then applied over the silver. This lacquer work cost about 5 cents a foot fifteen or twenty years ago, but now that there are so few men who can do lacquer work, the cost is 80 cents a foot.
For every 75 men who could lacquer mouldings years ago, there are now only two who can handle this kind of work. There is one firm in Milwaukee which deals in lacquer mouldings, and this firm enters to a very wealthy class of people. "This is probably the only place in Wisconsin where there is any perceptible market for lacquer work."

There is a large enough stock of picture moulding in the Koletzke store to satisfy the demands of the most fastidious customers. There are mouldings to fit pictures of every size, shape, or color. Metallic mouldings of all descriptions are handled at the Koletzke store. These are strips of wood moulding, which have, the appearance of a metal strip. They are made mostly in Germany, and brought to this country in huge quantities.

The wood is used in manufacture of picture mouldings is mostly red gum.
This is as durable a wood as can be found for this purpose, and is not expensive. Some basswood also is used.

question. California demand has strengthened, and prospects for a fruit crop twenty-five per cent above last years, promises an unprecedented fall demand from that territory.

There is a good call for southern oak from flooring plants, which report sales in excess of output, and gum, making readily to trim factories and the furniture interests. Recent price advances in these two woods find readier acceptance. Sales of northern hardwoods have expedited until they now double production and, with stocks lower, are being made at steady prices.

DOGWOOD GOT ITS NAME FROM BUTCHER, NOT CUR

Seattle—(AP)—The dogwood tree derives its name from a long connection with butchers, and not from any can-nine associations, Prof. T. C. Frye, of the botany department of the University of Washington, points out.

"Years ago, when meat was roasted over an open fire, sticks of hard wood to withstand the heat were put in the meat to keep it from falling apart when done," said Prof. Frye. "The sticks were of dogwood. This was later shortened to dogwood."

The FLAPPER WIFE

By Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

She wanted to tell Stan how empty life at home had been for her since he dropped out of her life—how terribly she had missed him.

But his coldness froze her. She couldn't tell him anything. Her voice was congealed in her throat.

"Does your husband know you're here with me?" Wayburn asked. He gripped the arms of his chair with both hands as he leaned forward hanging upon her.

"Suppose he does know it? What difference would it make?" Gloria's voice was dull whisper.

"Difference?" Wayburn shouted. "It would make a difference of a difference to me!" He began to dash up and down the room like a caged tiger.

He stopped suddenly before her chair, and glared down at her.

"Do you suppose I want to be dragged into your troubles?" he asked violently. "Do you suppose I want that husband of yours to hunt me up and shoot me, eh? What could I do with you, anyway?"

Gloria saw in a flash how his mind was working. She shook with cold anger that was like an icy chill. And when she answered Wayburn her voice came between clenched teeth. She couldn't get them apart.

"I see what you're driving at, Stan," she said. "You think I'm asking you to take care of me—well I may be cheap, but I'm not so cheap as that."

Her anger broke over him suddenly like flooding waters bursting through a dam.

"I'm not such a fool as to expect help from you!" she cried. "Why, you can't take care of yourself—I'll bet you're still living on that $200 you borrowed from me!"

She could see Wayburn wince. That had got under his skin!

"Don't worry. I'll pay every red cent of it back!" he said.

Gloria sneered. "I'll frame it when I get it," she said. She wanted to hurt Wayburn. She hated him, suddenly, as she had never hated anyone in all her life before—

The telephone in the other room rang sharply. Wayburn slammed the door after him as he hurried in to answer it.

Gloria listened to it, and laid her ear against the panels of it to listen. "Hello, Sunshine," she heard Wayburn say. Her lip curled. That was like Stan—to call Sonya Chotek "Sunshine," as he had once called her "Russet."

Pet names were part of Stan's love making, part of his "hine" with women! Little caressing names that were like kisses on his lips and they whispered them. And they meant exactly what his kisses meant. Nothing! Nothing at all!

Oh, she had found Stan Wayburn out at last. He was a coward and a cad—why, hadn't she seen it long ago?

Wayburn came back into the room. He sat on the arm of Gloria's chair, and laid his hand on Gloria's shoulder.

"Now, let's talk this over quietly," he said.

At his touch, all the fury went out of Gloria. She hated him, yes, but with a kind of misery. She turned in her chair and looked up at him pleading with her eyes.

"Don't send me back home, Stan!" she begged. "If you know how lonely I've been! . . . If you only knew! Look here, I'll get a job on the stage. Maybe Kit Cameron can get me into the show she's in."

Wayburn got up.

"No, you'd better go home," he said brutally. His voice cut like a whip. And Gloria went mad for a moment.

She crossed the room, and picked up Sonya Chotek's picture. She held it above her head, and brought it down hard on the back of the nearest chair. The glass broke in a hundred pieces. . . . Above the crash of it Gloria heard the sound of Wayburn's laugh.

"Well, that's about all you can do about it!" he said. "I married Sonya Chotek yesterday."

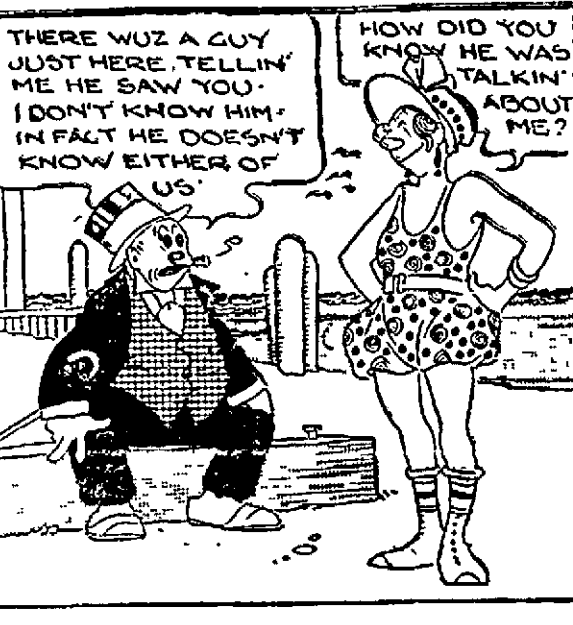

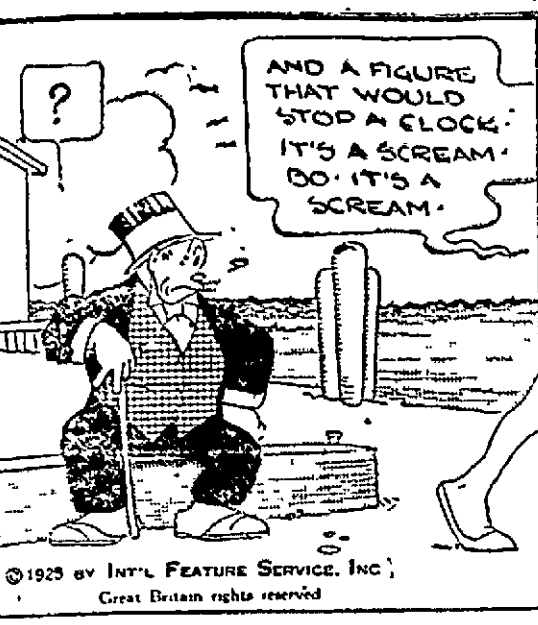

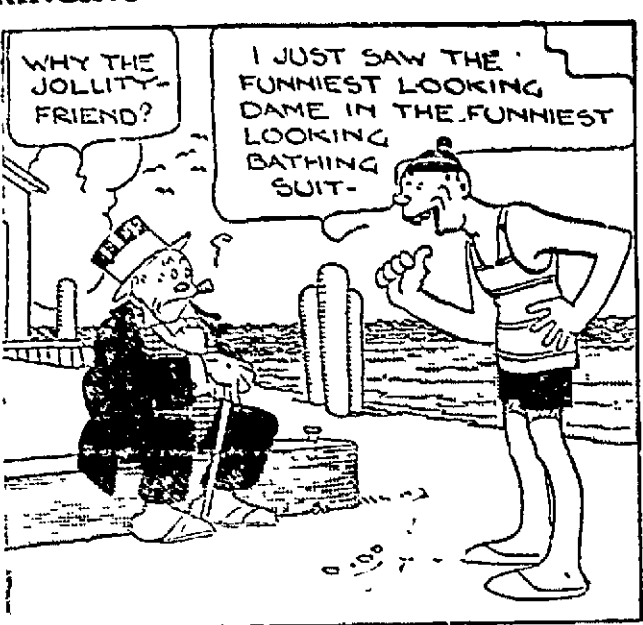

Gloria took the news of Wayburn's marriage as she might have taken the news of his death—standing very straight and still. Too hurt to cry. Too shocked to say a word!

So he had married Sonya Chotek yesterday.

OLD LAWRENCE FIELD LEASED FOR H. S. GAMES

New Athletic Fields at Junior High Schools Not Yet
Ready to Use

Because none of the football fields at the junior high schools are in condition to be used this year, Appleton high school's grid team will use the former Lawrence field for practice and games, according to H. H. Helble, principal. I. Bahcall, who purchased the field from the college, has allowed the high school to use it for the year on the condition that the school authorities remove the fence around it when the season closes. Because of the removal of the bleachers it is expected that spectators will be slightly inconvenienced this year.

"This arrangement takes care of outdoor athletics at the high school this season," Mr. Helble said, but next year the high school will have to make other arrangements. Next year we will not be allowed to use either the old Lawrence field or Whiting field. Our new field is hardly adequate for our games as it requires many, such as a woven wire fence, bleachers, etc., and neither the board of education nor the school athletic association will be able to meet those needs for a number of years. All the money now at hand and that taken in this year will be used for this purpose, but it will scarcely be enough. This is a chance for some public spirited individual or civic organization to help the school in a real way by supplying a few of the things we need," Mr. Helble said.

COUNTY SENDS HEALTH LETTERS TO PUPILS

Monthly health letters will be sent to children of the 122 district schools of Outagamie-co., which will contain suggestions on systematic exercise, proper diet, and proper bodily care. It was decided at the September meeting of the county health committee Thursday afternoon at the court house. The letter will be written in story form so the children will read them with interest and will be eager to follow out the suggestions. Routine business was transacted at the meeting.

Something For Nothing, Is Coolidge Economy Idea

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington (AP)—Everybody knew President Coolidge was thrifty, but even for him it was "going some" to evolve a scheme by which the government's to get $160,000,000 worth of public buildings without spending anything—in fact, in the long run having money. Explained, however, it's simple.

To begin with, the government has about half as much room as it needs to accommodate, suitably, its numerous personnel in Washington.

Of the other half about 50 per cent are quartered in a lot of war-built shacks that never were meant to be anything but temporary and now are on the verge of falling flat down if they're not torn down. For the remaining workers rented office room is provided.

The president wants to get the war shacks' occupants into regular, permanent buildings before their present roofs collapse on them. He wants also to cut off the $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 item which the government now pays annually in rentals.

What he asked, would be the cost of putting up the necessary structures to house the entire outfit in the style the government ought to maintain its hirings in? The answer, estimated, was $160,000,000.

The presidential soul'd revolved at the thought of taking any such sum out of the government's pocket. Wasn't there some way of getting the preceivable. There never will be. There never is.

The government always hires lots more help on the least provocation. It never fires any to speak of. So long as it has existing quota on hand it has to have some place to put them.

Yet, despite the number of government employees, they're behind with a good deal of their work.

Take the district administration, for instance. It requires at least a year to get a District of Columbia deed recorded, and a year and a half is nearer the average.

The recorder's office is just that badly piled up. There may be several transfers before the first one's of record. These accumulated deeds aren't even kept in a fireproof building.

Let them burn up and imagine the mess there'd be. It's a typical Washington official situation.

POLICEWOMAN EMPLOYED IN 8 BADGER CITIES

Eight Wisconsin cities give employment to policewomen at the present time, according to a report on Municipal Policewomen recently issued by the Municipal Information bureau of the Wisconsin university extension division. The cities are Eau Claire, Green Bay, Kenosha, Oshkosh, and Wausau which have one policewoman each, Madison and Superior; which have two policewomen each, and Chippewa Falls, which has engaged a temporary policewoman on trial. Janesville, Milwaukee, and Racine all have city ordinances providing for employment of policewomen, but are employing none at present. Appleton employed a policewoman for about two years, but has had none for about a year and a half.

The first Wisconsin cities to employ policewomen were Itasca and Superior, both making appointments in 1914. Portland, Ore., in 1905 was the first city in the country to employ a policewoman. Los Angeles, Calif., followed in 1910, and by Aug. 1921 about 300 cities had joined in the movement.

THE SAME WORLD-FAMOUS NAME

Warner's

... which was stamped on the corsets of our grandmothers when they insisted upon the latest fashion, is today the distinguishing mark by which we know the best in corsets.

Different in Construction, the modern Warner's may be anything from a tiny silken Oriental for the girl who dances, to a straight-line Corsette for the stout figure.

The Same in Quality, the modern Warner's still means the luxurious comfort, the long wear, the fashionable lines which make satisfied Warner customers.

THIS smart type of Wrap-around features a design exclusive with WARNER'S: the skillfully constructed back that both rounds and flattens the figure and the diagonal thigh elastic that positively prevents any sliding up on the figure.

That Right End and Left End of Yours--- How Often Do They Meet?

What an effort it is for some people to make both ends meet! And yet how easy many others find it to do.

A regular system of saving, strictly adhered to, not only makes both of those temperamental ends that bother all of us, meet—but they continue to stay met—passing acquaintance becomes real friendship and finally habit keeps them, together so much that a crowbar couldn't separate them.
